President Prods Congress On Bills

Lists Measures He Wants Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower gave Congress a gentle prod Thursday on nearly a score of bills he would like to see passed before adjournment in July.

He did it by releasing through Asst. Press Secretary Snyder legislative items in international, national security, government, economic and welfare fields.

Snyder said he was issuing the list in response to inquiries, and that while there was no intention of calling the bills "must" items, Eisenhower regarded them as high points in which he had great interest.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader said in a statement regarding the White House list:

"Some of the measures that he discusses are virtually certain to be passed in the near future; others are receiving careful consideration by the appropriate committees.

"I think if the President will be patient he will find that at the end of the session, Congress will have enacted a program designed to meet the needs of the American people and to face the problems that are before us."

The items on Eisenhower's list, and their status in Congress:

INTERNATIONAL — Military and economic foreign aid; organization for trade cooperation; customs simplification; immigration, including amendment of the Refugee Act, and construction of an atomic merchant ship.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has voted a cut in the foreign aid program and the House will consider the bill early in June. The administration hopes for restoration of at least some of the cut.

Legislation providing for participation in the international trade organization is on the House calendar but faces stiff opposition.

The proposed changes in immigration and refugee laws, and the President's proposal for a demonstration atomic merchantman are under consideration in committees.

SECURITY — Military career incentives, including medical care for dependents of men in the service and benefits for survivors.

Both the House and Senate have passed bills providing for these benefits and a House-Senate compromise is awaiting final action.

GOVERNMENT — Postal rate increases which would bring the government an additional half-billion dollars a year; pay increases for top Civil Service officials and presidential appointees.

The House Post Office Committee has voted postal increases, but there is opposition among House leaders. The House has voted pay raises for top executive appointees, but there has been no Senate action.

ECONOMIC — The highway program; farm credit legislation to make it easier for farmers to borrow money; a rural development program including research in problems of low-income farmers.

Highway construction bills have passed both the Senate and the House but the two chambers have yet to reconcile their differences. A new farm credit bill is to come up for House consideration next week.

WELFARE — School construction program; housing; health, including health reinsurance, aid to states for training of health specialists, and construction of research and technical facilities at medical schools; labor legislation, including Taft-Hartley Act amendments and a proposal to police union welfare and benefit plans; civil rights proposals including creation of a bipartisan commission and a special Justice Department division.

A school construction bill has reached the House Rules Comittee and is expected to be cleared for House action late in June. A housing bill going beyond what Eisenhower wants passed the Senate Thursday. The House has yet to vote on it.

NINE DIE IN LAKE STORM—At least nine men have drowned in Lake Michigan squalls, and two others are reported missing. Seven of the victims drowned in rough waters off Cudahy, Wisconsin, when their barge sank. Two more are missing from the barge, and two fishermen drowned off Milwaukee. Here, the Coast Guard brings the body of one of the barge victims to port at Milwaukee.

Investigate Death Of Navy Recruit

Dies After Disciplinary Drill

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP)—The death of a 17-year-old Navy recruit after undergoing disciplinary drills was laid before an investigating board of officers Thursday.

The officers were directed to determine whether special rifle drill and other duty assigned to Maurice G. Everett of McKenzie, Tenn., caused his collapse in 90-degree heat Tuesday and his death that night.

Attendants at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center Hospital attributed the youth's death to heat stroke.

In relating an account of the hours preceding Everett's death, the center's public information officer, Lt. C. E. White, did not use the word "disciplinary" but rather "retraining" to describe the rifle drill.

White said the drill was ordered because Everett, in the eighth week of a nine-week boot, or initial training period, had "not learned the significance of a military order."

Everett enlisted in the Navy from Lansing, Mich., where he had lived with his father, Glen, and his stepmother. The Red Cross said the youth went to live with the father after the parents separated.

The father, a maintenance man for a bus line, was en route to Huntingdon, Tenn., for funeral services for his son.

White's account of the incident was:

Everett and another recruit were found in barracks off limits to them. When the company commander ordered them out Everett "talked back." He was sent to the "retraining section" for one day.

On Tuesday morning he and five others were given 45-minute drill with rifles. This consists of 15 minutes of shifting rifles into various positions, a 5-minute break, and then resumption of the drill.

Everett said his left arm was cramped. The company commander massaged the arm and the recruit seemed all right. He went to lunch at 11 a.m. and his food tray slipped from his grasp. He told the company commander he was all right. He ate a substantial meal after which he was assigned to watering lawns.

When he returned to more rifle drills, he did not do the routine properly and told the comander he was too tired. The commander took him off drill and assigned him to a washroom cleaning detail. Ten or 15 minutes later the commander found him unconscious in the washroom.

A medical corpsman diagnosed Everett's condition as shock from heat. An ambulance removed him to the hospital where he died at 9:55 p.m.

The investigation by a board of officers was ordered by the center's commander, Capt. J. B. McClean.

U.S. Chiefs Of Staff Would Visit Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States dramatically, though indirectly notified Russia Thursday that the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff would probably accept an invitation to inspect the Soviet armed forces — if such an invitation is forthcoming.

The matter was handled in such a way as to leave no doubt that the Soviet government was being prodded to bid the American military high command to visit Moscow and tour the country.

The unusual affair was handled by the White House and the Defense Department. The office of the air attache of the Soviet Embassy became involved and did an almost unheard of thing, giving out a statement to explain what had happened so far. The State Department remained — perhaps skeptically — silent.

Gordon Gray, assistant secretary of defense, went over the matter with Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. at a State Department conference.

Gray, who makes regular visits to the department in his capacity of assistant defense secretary for international affairs, said "we didn't meet especially to talk about this but it came up in our routine discussion."

"Right now it seems a little confused and Mr. Hoover and I talked it over in an effort to get the picture, to understand what was going on," Gray told a reporter.

The White House's contribution was a remark by Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary, that he "wouldn't be surprised" if the Joint Chiefs of Staff would accept an invitation to visit the Soviet Union. He hastened to explain that they had no invitation.

Snyder, however, said that "there have been informal discussions about high officials of our government visiting Russia" ever since the Geneva conference last July.

The Pentagon became involved when a spokesman for the joint chiefs said no official approach for a visit by the whole group of military leaders had been received but that if an invitation did come in "it will be given serious consideration depending upon the conditions imposed."

Behind all this was a move by the Soviet government which appeared on the face of it to be of much more modest proportions than the United States government apeared ready to give it.

According to the office of Col. Philip Bachinsky, air attache at the Soviet Embassy, this is what happened:

BULLETIN

GUATEMALA (AP)— A Guatemalan airliner with 31 persons aboard was missing Thursday.

The Aviateca Co. plane left Puerto Barrios at 10 a.m. for La Tinta. Later the control tower at La Tinta airport reported the plane could not land there because of bad weather and was heading for Guatemala City.

When the plane did not arrive at Guatemala City, a search was started.

Slight Increase In Cost Of Living Hikes FactoryPay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another slight increase in living costs was reported by the government Thursday. It means a cent-an-hour pay boost for a million factory workers.

The wage increase is required under living cost provisions in union contracts in the auto, aircraft and farm equipment industries.

The Labor Department's consumers price index rose 0.2 per cent in April to 114.9 per cent of the 1947-49 average—meaning it now costs about $1.15 to buy what $1 would buy in the three-year base period.

It was the second fractional increase in two months, an expected seasonal rise in grocery prices, amounting to 0.6 per cent, accounted for the April upturn. Other consumer items averaged the same as in March, although housing, medical, and recreation costs edged upward.

Ewen Clague, labor statistics commissioner, hinted at a further living cost uptrend during the summer, saying there is no sign of any decline. He forecast gradually increasing food costs during the summer months but possibly further price cuts for automobiles and household appliances.

Business In For Some Bumps But No Tailspin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government and industry leaders Thursday acknowledged that business is in for some bumps—but no tailspin—in the months just ahead.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks told a news conference the economy is "very spotty." Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, in a speech, said some industries "will go down a little." The adjustments will be brief and "relatively minor," he predicted.

These appraisals coincided with a selling surge on the New York Stock Exchange, sending the market into its heaviest losses of the week, and with announcement in Detroit that continuing auto layoffs have boosted Michigan's joblessness to 190,000.

President Henry Ford II told his Ford Motor Co. stockholders, at their annual meeting, that Ford's sales and profits will drop this year from record-breaking 1955. He described the long-term outlook, however, as "particularly bright."

In each case the speakers looked beyond the immediate hesitation to an early recovery. Weeks said the over-all outlook for 1956 was "very encouraging" and Humphrey told the National Press Club that despite the sumer adjustments, the outlook is for sustained highlevel prosperity.

Ronan Calls Illinois Primary 'Mandate' To Vote For Stevenson

CHICAGO (AP) — The head of the Democratic State Committee said Thursday he considers the vote for Adlai Stevenson in the Illinois primary "a mandate to Illinois delegates" to the national convention.

Chairman James A. Ronan's statement was occasioned by a meeting in Springfield Wednesday of 16 downstate delegates who met at the call of former Sen. Scott Lucas.

The group expressed "very strong sentiment" for Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) but decided to go to the Democratic National Convention in August unpledged to any candidate.

Symington has been mentioned as a possible dark horse presidential candidate.

Ronan, in a statement circulated by the Stevenson campaign Committee, said the state committee he heads "had nothing to do" with the Springfield meeting.

He added that as an individual and as chairman he feels the Illinois primary result "is an indication of the very definite Stevenson sentiment in our state," he continued:

"I consider this great vote for Stevenson a mandate to Illinois delegates and alternates. I am sure that all but a small fraction of the Illinois delegation will be for Stevenson at the national convention, as the front running candidate."

Results of the Illinois Democratic primary in April were Stevenson, 717,742; Kefauver, 34,092; Harriman, 134; Lausche 1,146, and Symington, 232.

Operations Worth Half Of Charge, Surgeon Says

CHICAGO (AP)—A surgeon says most operations are worth "about half of the total charge."

But, he also says, "the patient isn't being cheated."

The statements were made Wednesday night by Dr. Lindon Seed, an associated professor at the University of Illinois Medical School.

He said the actual surgical procedure is worth about half the charge, and the balance is for diagnosis and pre-operative and post-operative care.

Raid 16 Alleged Gambling Places In Six States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Internal revenue service agents Thursday raided 16 alleged gambling establishments in six states, making several arrests and seizing slot machines and horse betting equipment.

Revenue Service officials said the raids, conducted simultaneously, were a followup to an April 19 crackdown on what they called a "cross-country syndicate of gamblers."

The officials said information found in the April raids, in which 18 persons were taken into custody provided leads on which Thursday's operations were based.

The service said the 16 locations raided Thursday and the number for each city were:

New Haven and Bridgeport, Conn., one each; New Orleans one and Arabi, La., a suburb of New Orleans 4; Nashville, Tenn., 3; Cleveland, 2; Dulzura, Calif., about 30 miles south of San Diego and near the Mexican border 1, and Newport, Ky. 3.

U.S. Tells Reds To Stop Enticing Refugees ToLeave

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States told the Communist countries Thursday to stop enticing refugees to go back home.

A White House statement declared those who seek asylum in this country have the right to stay here. And it said the United States means to satisfy itself that any who leave are doing so of their own free will.

The announcement said:

"The United States is taking action against instances of improper and irregular pressure by officials of foreign governments seeking to influence persons who have sought asylum in this country."

Officials explained there were two reasons for issuing the statement at this time:

1. To clarify America's position with regard to the intensive campaign by Communist countries to get their nationals back from the countries in which many have taken refuge.

2. To reassure Iron Curtain country refugees in this country that the American government is behind them if they want to stay here.

Earlier Thursday the Senate Internal Security subcommittee urged that the State Department expel Arkaday Sobolev, chief Russian delegate to the United Nations, and Konstantin Eskimov, first secretary of the delegation.

Turk Cypriots Battle Greeks

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Turkish Cypriots armed with stones and clubs rioted through the streets of Nicosia and Larnaca Thursday, seeking revenge against Greek Cypriots.

Their anger was aroused by the fatal shooting Wednesday night of a Turkish Cypriot police sergeant at Polis, a village 60 miles from Nicosia.

In Nicosia, the mobs stoned Greeks and their property. One group attacked with guns, firing from a speeding taxi. British troops armed with tear gas grenades moved in and separated the Turk from the Greek Cypriots with a barbed wire fence. Several Greek cars caught on the wrong side of the barricade were battered with stones.

One Greek was shot and many persons with head wounds were taken to hospitals.

At Larnaca, a port 23 miles from Nicosia, the mobs rushed through the main street smashing windows of Greek shops. Police managed to disperse the rioters. Several persons were injured.

U.S. Army Patrol Fired On At Red Czech Border

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — A U. S. Army spokesman said Thursday night an Army border patrol, accompanied by two American correspondents, was fired on from Czechoslovakia Wednesday while on a routine mission along the Iron Curtain. No one was injured.

Army authorities said five rifle or carbine bullets were fired from a distance of 150 to 200 yards. One struck within five feet of the lead vehicle of the three-car patrol. The patrol did not return the fire.

The two newsmen were identified by the spokesman as Warren Kenneth, of the Newark, N. J. Evening News, and Jack Thompson, of the Chicago Tribune. He said they were working on a story about U. S. Army's border patrols.

Thompson said the firing began when the correspondents looked at a Czech border tower through field glasses. The soldiers with them were deployed in protective formation.

Thompson said the nearest shot hit right in the middle of the party, which then moved out of the danger area. Immediately thereafter, they saw three persons, including two Czech officers, approach the border from the Czech side. One of the officers carried a rifle, Thompson said.

He said the two officers in the American patrol were Maj. Raymond Harvey, of Pasadena, Calif., who won the Medal of Honor in Korea, and Capt. William Attick of Harrisburg, Pa.

Russia Holds Club To Compel Japan To Sign Peace Treaty

TOKYO (Friday) (AP) — Japan is moving rapidly toward a decision on its future relations with the Soviet Union.

The Russians have a lever in a new 10-year fisheries pact that could:

Force Japan to sign a World War II peace treaty or live under a serious threat to its food supply;

Seriously divide Japan's conservative government;

Cause a major reshuffling of the Cabinet, with ousting of the strongest anti-Soviet elements, particularly Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu; and Compel Japan to give up claims to the Southern Kuriles, occupied by the Soviets since end of World War II.

Key to this possible chain reaction is a provision of the fisheries agreement, signed by Agriculture Minister Ichiro Kono in Moscow, that makes it effective only upon restoration of normal relations.

Japan feels it must have access to Northeast Pacific waters, which the Soviets have threatened to close to "unlicensed" ships, to bring in an adequate catch of salmon. The Japanese largely depend upon fish as a source of protein in their diet.

Kono's return Saturday is possibly the fuse that will set off an explosion within Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama's Liberal-Democratic party. He will confer with Hatoyama and Shigemitsu and report Monday to Parliament.

Shigemitsu, often at odds with Hatoyama, has made it clear he is against any softening of Japan's attitude toward Russia. He told legislators that Japan should not relinquish claims to the Southern Kuriles—Kunashiri and Etorofu islands—when it resumes the now stalled peace talks.

LUTHERAN CHURCH GROWTH

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Lutheran Church in America is organizing new congregations at the rate of 10 a month, Dr. R. H. Gerberding, head of the church's board of missions, said 49 congregations were started in the first five months of 1956, and 11 are ready to begin in June.

Guy Kibbee, Movie Character Actor, Dies At 74

EAST ISLIP, N. Y. (AP)—Guy Kibbee, 74, for years one of the movies' jolliest character actors, died Thursday. He was broke, and his body was wasted with Parkinson's disease, a severe palsy.

Kibbee rose from Mississippi showboats to the Broadway stage and thence to featured billing in more than 100 Hollywood films. The nerve-ravaging disease struck him down in 1953 and he spent nine months in a Rye, N. Y., sanitarium.

On Sept. 20, 1954, he was admitted to the Percy Williams Home for sick and needy actors here. By that time Kibbee was broke. His only income was from Social Security benefits.

"I've come to the bottom of the barrel," he told the home's directors in applying for admission.

Kibbee suffered repeated spells of incoherence and was bedridden most of the time.

Kibbee played in a dozen Broadway shows before he went to Hollywood 25 years ago. He played in a numberof films with Shirley Temple when she was the reigning child star of Hollywood.

He leaves the widow, Ethel, of West Los Angeles, Calif., and two sons, John and Guy Jr.

Hear Midwest Traffic Safety Programs Weak

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwestern safety leaders were told Thursday that Midwestern traffic safety programs are the weakest in the nation.

That opinion was voiced by Mrs. Raymond Sayre of Ackworth, Iowa, a member of the President's Committee for Traffic Safety.

She spoke before representatives of 14 central states at the closing session of a two-day regional meeting sponsored by the committee.

Mrs. Sayre's appraisal was based on the entire section. She found a number of bright spots in the central area. Her findings were figured on the National Safety Council's annual inventory of traffic safety activities — a yardstick of accident prevention performance by states and cities.

Representatives of the various states went into state huddles during the morning.

W. Earl Hall, managing editor of the Mason City Globe Gazette suggested to fellow Iowans that they take a more aggressive role in safety work in their home towns.

"And I would urge that careful attention be given to sound and adequate financing," he said. "More safety councils have foundered for lack of financing than for any other reason."

Charles F. Carpentier, secretary of state, told fellow Illinoisans that his state's driver license fees may be raised to $2 from the present $1 for a three-year period.

He said the current fees pay only about half the cost of administering the program. The administration's philosophy, he added, is that each function should pay its own way.

Carpentier said any surplus funds from the increase would be used to help finance driver training in high schools.

Woman Donates Kidney To Save Life Of Identical Twin

BOSTON (AP)—For the first time in history a woman donated one of her kidneys Thursday in an operation to save the life of her identical twin.

The transplant operation on Mrs. Wanda Foster, 21, of Chandler, Okla., and her ailing sister, Mrs. Edith Helm of Sand Springs, Okla., followed two earlier history-making operations on twin men by the same Peter Bent Brigham Hospital-Harvard Medical School team which performed Thursday's surgery.

Doctors said the 4½ hour operation had proceeded according to plan. While the surgeons declined to make predictions about the ultimate outcome of the transplant, hospital officials reported satisfactory recoveries in the cases of the young men twins in the earlier operations.

The husbands of the tiny Oklahoma sisters came to Boston to be with their wives — both of whom weigh less than 100 pounds.

A hospital spokesman said neither of Mrs. Helm's kidneys were removed to make room for the transplanted one, explaining that she will have three kidneys until the transplant functions smoothly.

Mrs. Helm, pronounced incurably ill of glomerulonephritis, came to Boston in April with her sister to undergo extensive preoperative tests to determine whether they were actually identical twins. In the present status of transplant surgery, doctors say a transplanted organ can live only in an identical twin; it cannot survive in "alien" flesh.

Mrs. Helm's condition could not be permanently improved without the transplant.

The doctors had explained to the twins and their families the element of calculated risk in such serious surgery. The doctors said the twins accepted "with courage and optimism," the possibility of thus saving Mrs. Helm's life.

Dr. John P. Merrill, director of the hospital's kidney research laboratory, and Drs. Warren Guild, J. Hartwell Harrison, Joseph E. Murray, David Hume and Leroy Vandam, were assisted by other members of the kidney research team.

Look For The Gimmick

To the Russians, peace is propaganda, not substance. In the context of that knowledge, the Soviet announcement of a 1,200,000-man armed forces reduction must be fitted.

In the minds of Western leaders peace is a state founded on mutual trust and genuine effort among nations to solve their conflicts.

The Soviet Union has not in recent times shown inclination to undertake shooting war either directly or through its satellites. But neither has it made the earnest attempt to solve world problems which is required for real peace.

The newest developments in disarmament mirror perfectly the fraudulent aspect of the Russian approach.

In London the international disarmament conference was stalemated—stalled as similar meetings have been so often before because of Russia's refusal to agree to any sort of realistic inspection program. Enforcement of disarmament demands an effective inspection system.

In the wake of thier failure to produce proposals of substance in London, the Russians now come along with their demobilization announcement. The purpose is simple: to cloak their responsibility for the stalemate and seek to shift the blame to Western powers.

They even go so far this time as to suggest that the United States, Britain and France make similar cuts in their armed forces.

The trick, here, of course is an old one. Western armies already are much smaller than Moscow's and cuts of comparable numerical size or even of comparable percentage would pull them well below a reasonable safety level. That perhaps would not matter if Russia had given more solid proof of desire for true disarmament. But it has not.

The size of a nation's armed forces is today but one element in its military potential. Of greater meaning are such things as its stockpile of nuclear weapons, its reserves of long-range planes, pilotless missiles, tanks, guns, submarines and other equipment.

All our information is that in the most critical of these fields Russia continues to experiment and to build a backlog of force. Even cuts in plane and tank numbers would not necessarily be impressive, since these become out of date quickly and Moscow undoubtedly needs to scrap huge numbers of them.

The demobilization step, set for next March, is only a characteristic surface gesture by the Kremlin. No free men who trouble to think about it for a moment will be fooled. We must still go on waiting, hopefully, for signs of the hard substance of peace.

CHEROKEE, N. C. (AP) —Should Uncle Sam include the American Indian under its program of aid to foreign nations?

Some members of the proud and diabetes-ridden Cherokee Nation think he should.

"Certainly we feel the need of some kind of point four program," said Walter Jackson, a Navy veteran and one of the 12 tribal council leaders of the Cherokees here.

"We need capital. If the federal government would provide us with the capital, we could create more industry. We could put more Indians in business. We could be independent again, and that's what we want to be."

The Cherokees were a proud and free nation centuries before the U. S. government put the portrait of an Indian on the other side of a buffalo nickel.

Most historians today agree the Cherokees were more peaceful than warlike, better farmers than warriors. They lived in log cabins, tilled their own corn.

What happened to the Cherokees of course, is about the saddest chronicle in American history.

At one time they ruled some 480,000 square miles ranging from Virginia into Alabama. They tried hard for peace.

"We made 80 separate treaties with the white man," said Jackson gravely. "We lived up to every treaty — and the white man broke every treaty."

Under the pressure of incoming settlers, the U. S. Army was ordered in 1838 to move them to a new home in the area that is now in Oklahoma. Some 18,000 Cherokees submitted, and started the 1,000 mile winter march. Some 4,000 died on this famous "trail of tears."

Some 900 Cherokees chose to hide out in the hills here. Thanks to the help of changing times — and their own hard-saved money — they now own a 55,000-acre reservation in the great Smoky Mountains, which they bought themselves. They have grown to 3,500 members.

Most of them are Christian. There are 18 churches on the reservation — 14 of them Baptist — and all but about a dozen of the oldest Cherokees speak English. The younger ones now usually go through high school.

The federal government maintains the schools and a 25-bed hospital. The Cherokee Historical Society in 1950 started producing "unto these hills," an outdoor summer drama which employs 350 Indians, has paid them a million dollars in salaries, this year hopes to draw its millionth customer.

The customers aren't all tourists either. North Carolina loves its Cherokees, wants to help them.

A Cherokee can't sell his land to anyone else except another Cherokee without federal approval. He doesn't pay a land tax. But he is now a citizen of both North Carolina and the United States. He pays income taxes, sales taxes — all other taxes.

Tribal councilman Jackson, who served four years himself in the Pacific in the World War II, is proud that most Cherokees in that conflict were volunteers rather than draftees. He is proud a Cherokee was posthumously awarded the medal of honor for heroism in Korea.

"Our people are poor," he said. "If there is a millionaire Cherokee, he would have to be a relative in Oklahoma. There are none here."

The chief white man's gifts too the Cherokees — smallpox and tuberculosis — are no longer major scourges. But diabetes is.

"It afflicts 75 per cent of our people," Jackson said, and when I expressed doubt, he added, "we are poor. We don't get to eat what we once did. The doctors tell us it is because we eat too much corn, potatoes and beans. But what else can we afford? These are things we can grow."

The eastern branch of the Cherokee Nation has one solid reason to ask more help from Uncle Sam than many foreign nations.

Some years ago the Cherokees borrowed $350,000 from the federal government to build a tourist motor court, gasoline station, and native crafts shop. It was a 25-year loan.

"The operation has shown a profit every year," said Jackson, "and we are 10 years ahead on our repayment schedule. All we want is to be self-sufficient."

Disarmament Just a Dream Until Faith Is Bolstered

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — When Canadian Foreign Minister Lester Pearson was a young diplomat, he was assigned to the old League of Nations at Geneva.

One of the problems he worked on hardest in the 1920's was "Limitation of Armaments" as disarmament was then called. League delegates spent days and months debating it.

The principal stumbling block was what constituted "defensive" weapons and what constituted "offensive" weapons?

The former were supposed to be necessary and therefore didn't need limitation. The latter were supposed to be bad and to need limitation. Trouble was, nobody could tell which was which.

One night in a Geneva cafe, some of the younger league attaches settled the question to their own satisfaction if not officially. Weapons were defensive, they decided, when you were behind them. Weapons were offensive when you were in front of them.

From That Day to this, all the disarmament conferences in the world haven't advanced the philosophy of this argument by the width of one atom.

The point is proved by the recent breakup of the U. N. Disarmament Subcommittee talks in London, where the U. S. delegation was headed by Eisenhower's "Secretary of Peace" Harold E. Stassen and where not a thing was accomplished.

Was it a waste of time?

The diplomatic excuse is that the conference has been only temporarily suspended, progress has been made, policies are now being reviewed, talks will be renewed later.

No nation professing to be even half-civilized can afford to break off disarmament talks for good. The truth is, however, that the gulf between what the Russians want and what the western nations want in the way of disarmament is unbridgeable.

The Russians speak publicly, for propaganda, in favor of President Eisenhower's "open sky" inspection. Privately the Russians denounce it. They are not ready to accept control.

Realistic Thinking in Washington therefore recognizes that any reduction of armaments will come through an improved international political situation rather than through any token reduction of armed forces or military budgets.

There isn't going to be any destruction of atomic bombs until the international situation becomes less tense.

Some foreign leaders are of the opinion that the new Soviet tactics—exemplified by the travels of Khrushchev and Bulganin— indicate there is a new Soviet foreign policy, too.

India's Prime Minister Nehru, coming to the United States in July, is convinced that Communist policy has changed and that the trend is irreversible. Nehru attributes this to a greater demand for liberties by the growing number of educated Russians.

Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito, soon returning to Moscow for a visit, believes there's a movement towards nationalism in the Communist world. He believes that the satellites will retain communism, but that they will have a more independent status, like Yugoslavia's.

Defections of This Kind present the West with a dilemma.

The more the Russians appear to be what the West would like them to be, the more dangerous they become.

What this means is that the cold war tactics really have to be intensified until the West is completely convinced that Soviet policy has changed and is irreversible.

It is recognized that the answer on these points may not be known for 10 years or more.

This means that disarmament may be that far away—in spite of all the optimistic gush to build up the world's hopes—and in spite of anything the Russians announce about cutting their own armies down to a more reasonable size.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you sometimes get confused trying to follow Secretary of State Dulles on the Russians, it's because he seems to have two separate ideas about them although not necessarily at the same time.

On what must be his sunny days he sees the Russians changing their ways because of their own weakness and Western pressure. On cloudier days he looks upon the new Soviet policies as a grave danger.

He has expressed a double worry of what might happen if there was a general acceptance of the idea that the Russians were mending their ways and concern about war was gone: (A) that the Western alliances might break up and (B) that Congress might be reluctant to vote as much money for the foreign aid program as the Eisenhower administration thinks necessary.

Last May 25 he said:

"There are within the free nations some who are tempted by this prospect (the idea the Russians are changing for the better) and they look toward the United States to see how we interpret the recent Soviet gestures.

"If we seem to regard them as demonstrating a basic change of Soviet attitude and as indicating that the danger is over, they will hastily follow in that way. In that event much of the solidarity in strength which has been built over the past year would quickly disintegrate."

Then, with Congress considering the foreign aid program, he added: "There could be no worse moment to depart from the policy represented by the foreign aid program which has brought us where we are."

This month—when Congress is considering this year's foreign aid bill—Dulles has been persistently skeptical of the Russians' good intentions in announcing they were cutting their armed forces by 1,200,000 men.

On May 15 Dulles said this wouldn't reduce the Soviets' ability to wage atomic war—that men taken out of uniform could be used making nuclear weapons—although it would substantially reduce the size of the ground forces.

Tuesday he stuck to this same view of the Russian cut, saying that if they really went through with it, it was for economic, military and propaganda reasons.

Here are some of the things Dulles has had to say about the Russians in the past two years:

In 1955:

On May 16 he saw some "promise of constructive accomplishment" at the Big Four Summit Meeting in the following July. On May 17 he said the biggest danger of the Summit Meeting was that the world might expect too much.

On June 7 he thought the Russian attitude toward the whole of Eastern Europe might be changing. On June 10 he said the new Soviet policy was the result of "strains created by the West, that the Russians had really not undergone any change of heart, and that their economy was on the point of collapse.

On Sept. 22, after the Geneva Conference, Dulles said a "new spirit does indeed prevail" and the world might be entering a decade of peaceful change. But on Dec. 9 he said the Russians hadn't really changed, except in tactics.

He talked of a need for the West to keep a capacity to retaliate massively against attack but on Dec. 16 he said "it seems the Soviet leaders will seek to pursue their ambitions by means other than the use or threat of open force."

WRONG PARKING PLACE

RATON, N. M. (AP)—A truck roared down Raton Pass, its air-brake system broken. The driver watched closely for the entrance to a "truck trap," a side strip steeply reverse-graded up the mountain side from the highway, meant to allow an uncontrolled truck to slow to a stop.

His headlights flashed across the opening to one, but there was a car parked in the opening. He had to go on, but luckily his brake system still had enough pressure to slow the truck enough so he could steer around the final curve before reaching Raton.

Officials found a group of youngsters unwittingly had blocked the trap. They asked school principals to warn youngsters to keep clear of them.

Bed-Wetting Problems Not The Rarity Some Believe

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Bed-wetting—technically enuresis—is a problem with which many parents struggle. It causes a great deal of distress not only to older children but to some who are practically grown.

Enuresis is said to involve about 16 out of every 100 of the population between the ages of three men drafted for military service and 15. In a sample of 1,000 in the last war it was found that 16 per cent had continued to wet the bed after age of five. Of each 100, two and one-half had this difficulty up to and beyond the draft age.

Such a situation makes one believe that enuresis is practically normal for a high percentage of growing youngsters—though the embarrassment and mortification tend to increase with age.

Most Children acquire bladder control (even at night) by or before the age of five. Most of those who do not become increasingly miserable and sometimes are subjected to spanking or other "treatments" which are likely to do more harm than good.

Most of those who have studied this subject appear to believe that enuresis is usually a reflection of insecurity or emotional distress on the part of the youngster. A physical cause is found only rarely.

Parents would do well to recognize this view and surround their enuretic youngster with affection, study the circumstances leading to emotional instability, and particularly avoid showing resentment at the trouble which is caused.

Various Other measures to aid the youngster can be tried. Some have been helped by reducing fluids drunk after 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon and wakening the child fully at definite periods during the night. The latter, of course, is a little rough on the parents.

There have been reports of other measures of considerable value. However, the most recent is a mechanical device designed to develop a new habit pattern in the bed-wetting youngster. This involves putting the patient to sleep on a special pad which is sensitive to moisture and which rings an electric alarm when such moisture occurs. The child must be thoroughly awakened after the alarm rings, must empty the bladder and then be put in bed again with a dry pad and the alarm reset.

This Method has apparently brought some good results where other, simpler means have failed. But it certainly requires a good deal of cooperation on the parents' part.

One final point should, I think, be emphasized. Children do not all acquire bladder control at exactly the same age. It would frequently be a mistake to try all sorts of things with a child of four who still wets the bed merely because a brother or sister, or a neighbor's child, achieved control at the age of three. Common sense in this matter, as in others related to health should be the rule.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Found: A way to film an addiction story without incensing the censors.

The solution: The hero gets hopped up on cortisone.

Dope addiction was taboo on the screen until Otto Preminger came along with his "Man With the Golden Arm." The picture was refused a seal of the production code administration. Hollywood's self-cencering body, but did excellent business anyway.

Now 20th Century-Fox is filming "One in a Million," which is also about addiction but is experiencing no Johnston office troubles. The story is based on an actual case, as reported in the New Yorker.

James Mason plays a schoolteacher who is suffering from a rare arthritic condition that threatens to cripple him. His doctor prescribes cortisone. This was at a time when the drug was new and its effects not completely known.

"The doctor warns him to take only small amounts," Mason explains. "But the man is desperate. He cannot face life as an invalid."

So he goes on a cortisone binge. He indulges in many adventures to acquire the drug and manages to become deranged in the meantime.

Said Mason: "It has been proven that cortisone in its pure state can affect the mentality of some people, especially those of a schizoid tendency."

He was asked how he thought the picture would affect the public's confidence in cortisone.

"I don't think it will have a bad effect," he replied. "The story takes place when the drug — it's actually a hormone — was new and relatively untried. The doctor warns the man to go easy.

"As a matter of fact, cortisone is seldom given to patients in its pure form any more. It is combined with other drugs."

French Cooks Display A Genius for Omelets

LIGHT AS A FEATHER, crowned with a delicious sauce, an omelet is the epitome of delicate European cooking.

Not all French dishes require long, patient cooking. Take the omelet: a few simple ingredients, a flexible hand, a little careful timing and presto, you have one of the best and most famous of French dishes.

We asked Louis Vaudable, noted gourmet and proprietor of Restaurant Maxim's in Paris, to tell June brides how to make French omelets. Here is what he said:

The omelet is a prima donna among foods. Yet it is simple, and should be in the repertoire of every cook. First, the eggs. The French house wife believes that small eggs make tastier omelets. Monsieur Vaudable, now visiting the United States, says he personally prefers brown eggs.

Next the pan. Every French housewife has her special omelet pan which never goes near the dishwater. Used only for omelets, it is cleaned by rubbing with salt and paper while still hot, never washed with water. Consequently, the omelets never stick.

For three people, use six eggs and a pan proportionate to the number of eggs. In the pan over medium heat, melt three tablespoonfuls of butter until golden and no longer frothy; reduce heat slightly. Meanwhile, break the eggs into a bowl; season them with salt and freshly ground black pepper, and add a teaspoonful of water. Beat lightly with a fork or wire whisk (not a rotary beater) until large bubbles form on top—about half a minute. Don't overbeat.

Pour the egg mixture into the pan. Then with fork or spatula, begin loosening the edges of the omelet all around and lift once or twice in the middle, so the uncooked mixture will flow into the empty spaces. Work toward the middle. This will take about two minutes. Then, if you wish to add such things as grated cheese, jelly, chopped ham or seafood, or heated frozen Sauce Armoricaine (a delicate concentrate of lobster), quickly pour or spoon it onto the omelet, more or less along the line on which the omelet will be folded. Gently fold one-half of the omelet over the other. Your omelet will be golden brown on the outside, soft and wet—baveuse—inside; in other words, perfection. Slide it onto a hot plate, and brush quickly with a little soft butter for a glaze. Then if it was filled, top it with more of the same filling.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Vegetable soup, seafood omelet Armoricaine, minted peas, hash brown potatoes, hot baking powder biscuits, butter or margarine, fresh fruit with cream dressing, devil's food cake, coffee, tea, milk.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A private room and board for six days in a hospital for $10.50 is pretty reasonable by present day standards. So is a bill for 20 cents for medicine for the same period. They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Mother's Life Is Constant Compromise With Impossible

There are a few years in the life of the average wife and mother when she should be at least three women.

The feeling that one woman can't possibly do all that is expected of her usually strikes a woman after her children have begun to lead busy lives but aren't yet old enough to be turned loose on their own.

The daily problem of the wife and mother then becomes, "what's most important?"

"Is it more important that I go to Jim's out-of-town convention with him, as he wants me to do, or should I stay at home to handle any emergency that might come up instead of hoping an outsider can competently take my place?"

"If Jim and I go to a party Saturday night (and, goodness knows, we need to get out) who is going to see that Susie gets to the play at school which she says she just can't miss?"

"Have I time to take on that PTA job I feel I ought to do, or would I be a better wife and mother if I selfishly used the little extra time I have for myself?"

"I can't possibly chauffeur three sets of children to three different things on the same afternoon. Which is the most important activity?"

ROUND-AND-ROUND SHE GOES

And so it goes, day after day, week after week as a busy wife and mother is pulled this way and that. She's torn between this duty and that obligation, trying to do right by each member of the family, not always being sure where she is needed most.

She doesn't always make the right decision. Sometimes she feels she has been neglecting her husband to keep her children happy and sometimes she feels the children haven't been getting enough of her attention.

No modern labor-saving device has yet been invented that will put a busy wife and mother in three places at once.

Buddy Poppy Days Friday And Saturday

Once again, Mayor Ernest L. Hoagland bought the first V.F.W. Buddy Poppy as he signed the annual proclamation calling for financial aid to the Veterans of Foreign Wars' program of aid to widows and orphans.

In the proclamation signed by Mayor Hoagland the V.F.W. noted that it appeals for funds only once a year, that more than half of the money stays in the county for aid to widows and orphans here and that the V.F.W. maintains an orphanage at Eaton Rapids, Mich., which has been called "a home with everything but a father."

On the V.F.W. Poppy sales committee are Harold Johnson, Virgil Hayes, Clyde Watson, Gene Walker, Eleanor Hayes, Clara Tribble, Martha Watson, Agnes McDevitt and Fredline Phillips.

In announcing Dr. Cordier's acceptance to speak at commencement, college officials said his message will be of timely importance. The public is invited to attend the commencement exercises.

Dr. Cordier has been principal adviser to all of the Presidents of the General Assembly of the United Nations since the beginning, including former Prime Minister Paul Henry Spaak of Belgium; former Foreign Minister Herbert Evatt of Australia; Senor Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil; Senor Jose Arce of Argentina; Brigadier General Carlos P. DR. ANDREW W. CORDIER

Rank Of Under-Secretary

In 1946 he was appointed executive assistant to the Secretary-General, which office he still holds with the rank of Under-Secretary. In that capacity, he has the responsibility for co-ordinating, under the Secretary-General, United Nations activities and programs. This involves, in particular, the organization and direction of the General Assembly, and headquarters direction of all political missions, such as Palestine, India-Pakistan, Korea and the former Italian Colonies.

Dr. Cordier has a B.A. degree from Manchester College, Indiana (1922), an M.A. degree from the University of Chicago (1923), a Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago (1926), and honorary LL.D. degrees from Manchester College (1946), Elizabethtown College (1947), Albright College (1953), and Kent State University (1955). In June 1952 he received the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from Otterbein College.

After leaving Manchester College in 1944, Mr. Cordier spent two years as Expert on International Security in the Department of State. He was Technical Expert on the United States delegation at the United Nations Conference at San Francisco, and in that capacity was Adviser to the late Senator Vandenberg.

In 1945 he was sent to London by the State Department for a seven months' tour of duty to assist in setting up the United Nations.

Dr. Cordier married Dorothy Elizabeth Butterbaugh on May 23, 1924. They are the parents of two children, Lowell Eugene, and Louise Linette.

Says Officers Might Visit USSR If Bid Received

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House spokesman said today he "wouldn't be surprised" if the Joint Chiefs of Staff should pay a visit to the Soviet Union if the Russians invited them.

Acting Press Secretary Murray Snyder, said however, no invitation has yet been received.

Snyder commented on a report in a copyright story published in the New York Daily News that Russia has sent word "it would welcome a visit by the entire U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff for an inspection of the Soviet armed forces."

The Daily News story said the information came from United Nations sources.

Presumably the Soviets would expect a similar invitation from the United States for their own military leaders.

Snyder said at first, when asked about the report: "There has been no invitation."

Later, however, after making some checks with the government officials, he said that since the Geneva conference "there have been informal discussions about high officials of our government visiting Russia."

Snyder declined to say which officials are involved in the talks.

An inquiry at the Russian Embassy brought a response that Marshal Sokolovsky, Soviet army chief of staff, has invited Gen. Nathan F. Twining, U. S. Air Force chief of staff, to send a high level delegation of two or three officers to the celebration of aviation day in Russia on June 24.

Raps Suggestion Ike Not Vacation In Colorado

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Jack Mohler, editor and publisher of the Colorado Springs Free Press, demands an apology from Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, President Eisenhower's personal physician, for opposing a Colorado vacation for the President.

In a telegram sent to Snyder, Mohler said:

"Your irresponsible remarks concerning the effect of Colorado's mile-high altitude on heart victims have done our state and the President a great disservice."

Gen. Snyder told Washington newsmen recently:

"If it were left to me, I would be against going to one of higher altitudes in this first year after the (President's) heart attack."

Mohler's telegram said:

"Local medical authorities inform us there is absolutely no basis in fact for your inference this altitude, noted for its cool, dry climate, has any ill effects on persons suffering from heart ailments."

President Eisenhower was vacationing in Colorado at the time of his heart attack last September.

Malpass, in his 60s, weighs less than 160 pounds. The Democratic opponents—incumbent F. Ertel Carlyle and Alton Lennon—both weigh nearly 200.

OVER-THRIFTY MAN JAILED FOR CHANGE IN TRANSFER'S DATE

CHICAGO (AP)—Thomas A. Harris, 29, a State street bus driver, called police Wednesday when an elderly man handed him a transfer which Harris said was out-of-date.

Harris told police a new date had been pasted on the transfer given him by Walter Therien, 72. Police said many of the dates on the nearly 100 transfers found in Therien's pockets also had been altered. They said he also had a bank book showing deposits of $12,880. A bank confirmed his deposits.

Therien, charged with disorderly conduct and using a scheme or device to perpetrate a fraud, was jailed when he refused to put up $25 bond.

Waverly PTA Installation Concludes Year

WAVERLY — The Waverly P.T.A. met in the cafeteria at the grade school Thursday night, May 17.

Terry Ladage, Danny Duewer, Gary Hale, Syeven Austin and Wayne Edwards, Cub Scouts from Mrs. Rhea's 4th grade, led the members in the pledge to the flag.

A quartet composed of Rev. Ralph W. Fitch, Leslie Kumler, Gerald R. Brown and Dr. R. E. Lee, with Mrs. Ralph W. Fitch as accompanist, sang "When You Wore a Tulip," "Sweet and Low," "Just a Song at Twilight" and all joined for "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree."

Mrs. Rhea's room won the room count for attendance and will use their $2.00 prize for entertainment equipment. After the minutes were read and approved the officers were installed. The secretary has resigned and Mrs. Ruth Noble was nominated but would not decide at this time; to accept the office.

Mrs. Louise Brown will be program chairman and asked that members fill out a card with preference for prgorams.

The new budget of $400.00 with explanations for the use of the extra $100.00 was given by Sam Shipp—most for convention work.

It was voted to give a second prize, next year for room count, of $1.00. The meeting closed with a prayer by Rev. Fitch.

The committee of Mrs. Allyn Deatherage, Mrs. John Noble, Mrs. William Robertson and Mrs. Arthur Mayberry and Mrs. Orville Roulard served ice cream sticks at the close of the meeting.

HOMECOMING BY TV

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)— The USS Hancock, an aircraft carrier, arrived from the western Pacific without the usual crowding of rails by the crew.

Those who wished could observe the docking operation and welcoming crowd on the ship's closed-circuit television receivers in the wardroom, general mess and other gathering places—as seen from camera posts abroad.

The ship financed the private system with Shipboard Special Service recreation funds.

GHOST TRAINS PREDICTED

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — "Ghost" trains operating without crews may run the railroads of the future.

Speakers at the second annual Railroad Management Seminar at the University of Michigan said crewless trains have been operated by electronics for up to 10 miles on a trial basis. But the perforated tape that masterminds the operation is likely to be restricted to freight yard operations for the next several years.

LOCAL RESIDENT'S ESSAY JUDGED BEST IN N.B.C. CONTEST

Mrs. Wheeler was informed of her good fortune by mail Wednesday and prior to that a neighbor had phoned her to tell of the winners being announced over the air.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — What the Amateur Athletic Union needs is new officers with scope.

The old ones are tired and understandadly so. They've been around too long.

The Wes Santee case, which has stirred up so much trouble, easily could have been circumvented. Men who have kept up with the times would have done this, especially in an Olympic Games year and with the committee still requiring $750,000 to send a full squad to Melbourne.

After all, what Santee is charged with having taken in excess of what he was allowed for three meets in California hardly reached Teapot Dome proportions.

The AAU brass had an out when the Board of Managers of the Missouri Valley Association reversed the decision of its registration committee which suspended Santee.

Instead of dropping the matter there, and going about the business of building and financing the Olympic team, which up-to-date operators would have done, the AAU high command had a special committee, quickly dubbed the Secret Seven, appointed to further harass the most magnetic track and field attraction that this country has.

* * *

THE RESULT WAS a standout performer going to court for the right to fatten the gate receipts of AAU-sponsored meets and qualify to represent his country in the Olympic Games.

The ultimate in this absurd situation came when the entire William and Mary team was ruled out of further AAU competition because two of its members competed against Santee in a dual meet with the Quantico Marines.

An unusual twist is that the colleges continued to invite Santee after he was ostracized by the AAU. This is something in the way of evidence that the AAU and National Collegiate Athletic Union, which have a working agreement, had better get their signals straightened out.

The AAU could have taken the stand of Commissioner Wallace Wade, who said of the William and Mary rhubarb, "The Southern Conference has no rules prohibiting competition with service teams which may have professionals or former professionals on their roster."

* * *

THE LOOSELY-RUN AAU, a union of 48 associations, invites mixups like the one in which Santee finds himself.

A so-called meet director only has to have some sort of an organization going for him.

Sympathy is with Santee because anyone who knows anything at all about amateur sport, with the lone exception of golf, realizes that he is one offender picked out of a crowd.

The Secret Seven who dug further dirt against Santee was composed of the same old AAU badge-wearers, including Chairman Pincus Sober and Col. Harry D. Henshel.

Avery Brundage, currently president of the International Olympic Committee, competed in the 1912 Olympic Games and then proceeded to practically take over amateur athletics in this country. Dan Ferris is in his 50th year with the AAU, has been its secretary-treasurer for 29 years.

These men contend that a maximum of $15 a day for hotel and meals is still legitimate expense for an athlete, regardless of his stature.

And profess to wonder why the boys make small touches under the table.

Plans Completed For Air Races At Springfield

Plans have been completed for air races and an air show to be held in Springfield, Illinois, on May 26 and 27. For the first time midwesterners will be able to see a National Aeronautic Association sanctioned championship air race.

The events, to be held at the Southwest Airport in Springfield, are being co-sponsored by the Springfield Junior Chamber of Commerce and Springfield Airport Sales and Service, Inc.

The air show will feature the world famous Cole Brothers in stunt flying. A parachute jump, formation and solo aerobatics, car to plane transfer, handkerchiefnickun by a man on a low flying plane, and man standing on the wing of a plane in flight are just some of the breath taking feats the show will provide.

The race is for small midget racers with a wing span of about sixteen feet. Just large enough for the pilot, the small ships have engines of only 190 cubic inch displacement, or about 85 horsepower. Some of the country's fastest midget racers and greatest racing pilots will be competing for a $3,000 purse around a two and a half mile oval course at better than 200 miles an hour.

Hundreds of private aircraft, expected to offer the largest ground showing of planes ever assembled in this area at one time.

Time trials will start at 2 p.m. (CDST) Saturday with two heats and the finals scheduled for Sunday. The Cole Brothers Air Show will be presented once each day.

Price of admission will be $1 on Saturday and $1.50 on Sunday, tax included. The rain date is May 30 at 3 p.m.

Golf Is Europe's Favorite; Only 2 Clubs In Russia

PARIS (AP) — From Paul in the Basse Pyranees to Trondheim in the Land of the Midnight Sun, golf is one of Europe's most popular games—but you'll only find two courses behind the Iron Curtain.

A survey in connection with the centennial of the Paul Golf Club in southern France, lists 242 courses in Europe, Scandanavia and on Mediterranean islands.

The two within the Communist domain are at Bucharest and Ploesti in Romania. The Bucharest Golf Club, apparently quite prosperous, has 250 members, an 18-hole course, a par of about 70 and a telephone. The only thing known about the course at Ploesti is its name—Taleajen Golf Club.

GOLFERS ADVISED TO TAKE ALONG FISHING RODS

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)— Golfers using the Pontiac Municipal Course have been advised to include their fishing rods in their golf bags. They can try their hand at casting at no extra charge. Golfer-fishermen have been taking some sizeable carp from the large pond where Crystal Lake has flooded the seventh fairway.

Pat Flaherty Assured Of Pole Position In Memorial Day Classic

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — George Francis Patrick Flaherty strolled Indianapolis Motor Speedway's "Gasoline Alley" Thursday, wearing a big Irish grin and hunting a sign painter to decorate his helmet with a big green shamrock.

Pat, one of the few professional auto racers who isn't afraid of green, set a track record of 145.596 miles an hour in the 10-mile time trials last Saturday. He's a mathematical certainty to start in the No.1 position Wednesday in the 40th 500-mile auto race.

The starting field will be the 33 fastest cars in four days of trials, including this Saturday and Sunday.

There is no chance whatever that 33 cars will beat the 29-year-old Flaherty's speed this weekend. There already are 28 qualified at speeds slower than his. Not more than 16 others are rated a chance of exceeding 140.

The shamrock-decorated helmet is a Flaherty trade mark but he wore a new helmet in his qualification run and didn't have time to get it painted.

'I might have gone a little faster if I had been a little smoother," Pat said of his qualifying run.

Pat is a product of Glendale, Calif. He raced in the California Roadster Assn. from 1946 to 1949. The red-haired six-footer moved on to Chicago and picked up more racing know-how in the hurricane hot rod circuit against such competition as the Rathmann brothers and Don Freeland.

Pat's luck has been mixed at the speedway, in spite of the green shamrock on his helmet.

He was running a strong 10th in the 1950 race when rain stopped it at 345 miles with Johnnie Parsons at the lead.

He sat out the 1951 and 1952 Indianapolis races, under suspension for participating in programs not sponsored by the American Automobile Assn., then the sanctioning body.

He smacked the north concrete retaining wall in 1953 in a race run under such miserable weather conditions that driver Carl Scarborough died of heat exhaustion. Pat was running fourth. He didn't even remember the accident and doctors said he probably was a victim of heat or exhaust fumes.

The Irishman drove relief for Jim Rathmann in the 1954 Memorial Day race.

This year the Irishman has a new rose-and-pink car, the No. 8 John Zink special.

The car is four inches longer and four inches narrower than the Kurtis-Krafts which have dominated the race since 1950. It has the conventional four-cylinder Offenhauser engine, a 270-cubic-inch power plant developing about 350 horsepower.

"It's a fine car," says Pat, "and this year I'm looking for better luck."

Mantle's 17th Homer And 4 Singles Pace Yanks To 11-4 Victory

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT —(AP) Mickey Mantle crashed his 17th home run and four singles Thursday in pacing the league-leading New York Yankees to a 11-4 triumph over the sixth-place Detroit Tigers.

Mantle's splurge hiked his batting average to .421, tops in the major leagues. Eddie Robinson, a terror in Briggs Stadium last season, hit a bases-loaded home run.

Joe Collins and Andy Carey also hit solo home runs for the powerful Bombers, who racked up five Detroit pitchers in a 17-mit burst.

Tom Sturdivant held the Tigers to two hits over the final 5 1-3 innings and allowed no runs. Bob Turley, the Yankee starter, failed to last for the fifth time in six starts.

Turley held the Tigers hitless until the third inning, then gave up two walks and three singles, good for three runs. He permitted the Tigers a run in the first inning when Harvey Kuenn walked, stole second and third and scored on a sacrifice fly. Turley walked six before Sturdivant came to the rescue.

Back to back home runs by Mantle and Collins gave New York the lead in the second. The Yanks added three more in the third.

After the Tigers narrowed it to 5-4 in the fourth, Robinson's grand slam blast and Carey's drive sent the Yanks into a comfortable 10-4 lead at the end of five innings.

Milwaukee Takes Gene Conley Off Disabled List

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Righthander Gene Conley of the Milwaukee Braves Thursday was taken off the disabled list and will be ready to pitch "any time Manager Charlie Grimm needs him."

The Braves' front office said that Grimm and General Manager John Quinn were satisfied with the physical condition of the 6-8 pitcher who many think can mean the difference between the first pennant year at County Stadium and another also-ran finish.

The 25-year-old skyscraper had been carried on the disabled list for the last 30 days while recovering from a strained tendon in his pitching shoulder.

There's a chance he will make his first start of the year against the Cincinnati Redlegs here Saturday or Sunday.

He booted home Russet ($5.20) in the first, Pal Joe ($13.20) in the third, Nero's Mermaid ($9.20) in the fifth and Cherished ($9.20) in the ninth. Two other mounts finished out of the money.

Moore Having Trouble Making Weight Limit

WINDSOR, England (AP)— Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore fretted with a weight problem Thursday—needing to shed 9 or 10 pounds—as he prepared for his June 5 title defense against Trinidad's Yolande Pompey in London.

The big, mustachioed Negro from San Diego, Calif., worked six feverish rounds in a small, boiling gymnasium in his campaign to lose nearly a pound a day before the bout.

Observers believe the burly champ, who wouldn't tell his weight, is 9 to 10 pounds over the 175-pound limit. He weighed 189½ on April 30 when he beat Tiger Gene Thompson at Tucson, Ariz.

Yolande figures to have no problem making weight. His fighting weight is 170.

Jones Stars At Bat As Phillies Beat Brooks, 6-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies cast off their losing habit Thursday night, downing the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-4 with Willie Jones pounding home four of the runs on two homers and a single.

Jones got his first roundtripper of the game and his third of the season with the bases empty in the second inning. In the fourth, Elmer Valo singled and Jones homered again to score behind Valo.

The veteran third baseman singled Valo home in the sixth to account for his fourth RBI of the night.

Robin Roberts notched his fifth victory of the season, going all the way and giving the world champions seven hits.

Don Drysdale, the Dodgers sensational rookie, started for the Brooks but left the mound after the fourth inning, to be replaced by Sal Maglie in his first appearance since he joined the Dodgers. The barber failed to survive the two-run sixth inning, and Ed Roebuck came in from the bullpen.

Duke Snider got the Brooks off on the right foot with a two-run homer in the first, scoring behind Peewee Reese who singled. The other Brooklyn runs came in the seventh and the ninth on homers by Carl Furillo and Jackie Robinson.

Don January Grabs Lead In Dallas Open

DALLAS (AP)—Lanky Don January, the Texas collegiate golf great rounding out his first year as a professional, set a competitive course record with a whistling 6-under-par 64 Thursday to grab the first round lead in the $30,000 Dallas Centennial Open.

With most of the favorites and heavy artillery of the golf tour faltering, the young man from Abilene, Tex., beat a driving rain by 30 minutes to take the 6,216-yard Preston Hollow course in tow and glimpse his first big money along the links trail.

A fifth of the field of 153 was still out when rain swept the surroundings. Among them were the pre-tournament favorites Ben Hogan, Tomy Bolt, Gene Littler and Mike Souchak. The rain didn't last long, however, and had little effect on the late finishers.

Souchak made a gallant bid for the lead as he thundered into the 16th hole 4 under par. But the big ex-Duke football star had to settle for pars on the last two holes and wound up with a 66 and a tie for third place.

Leadership in the tournament was an all-Texas affair. Just one stroke back of January was Henry Ransom, the graying Texas rancher who plays only a few tournaments each year.

His 65 stood up unid mid-afternoon, when the 26-year-old January, who gained his first links fame as a member of national collegiate championship teams at North Texas State College, blistered the course for a stroke under the competitive record set last year by Bill Trombley of Dallas.

Jerry Barber shot a 35-33 for a 68 score.

Ransom, who lives at Bryan, Tex., but plays out of Saint Andrews, Ill., last won a tournament in 1955 when he took top money in the Rubber City Open at Akron, Ohio.

WILLIAMS VISITS LAHEY CLINIC FOR FOOT INJURY

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, whose ailing right foot has kept him out of the Red Sox lineup most of the season, visited Lahey Clinic Thursday for a thorough examination of the injury.

Asked how he felt, the slugging outfielder said: "The foot is not coming along too well. In fact, it is not coming along at all."

Trainer Jack Fadden said Ted will receive orthopedic treatment from specialists, along with X-ray treatment.

Yale's football team has posted a 24-9-3 record under Coach Jordan Olivar during the last four years.

Gophers Need Win At Ohio State To Cinch Pennant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota shoots for its first Big Ten baseball pennant since 1953 Friday, needing a victory at Ohio State to cinch it.

The conference title campaign ends with a full round of single games Friday and a slate of doubleheaders Saturday.

The Gophers, who have cleaned up in the statistical phase of the game as well as the won-lost record, have won 11 straight after dropping their opener.

Ohio State has a 7-3 mark for second place, but still has a mathematical chance for the crown. All that could disappear, however, and the race be decided with a Minnesota victory over the Buckeyes Friday.

Minnesota is at Indiana (5-5) Saturday for a doubleheader finale while Ohio State entertains Iowa (4-7). If Minnesota should lose its last three games and Ohio State win its three, the Buckeyes would take the flag with 9-3-.750 to the Gophers' 11-4-.733.

A baseball triumph would be Minnesota's first Big Ten championship of any kind since winning the outdoor track and gymnastics titles in 1949.

The remainder of the schedule:

Friday — Michigan (4-4) at Michigan State (3-5); Purdue (4-8) at Northwestern (4-6), Illinois (4-8) at Wisconsin (5-4), and Iowa at Indiana.

Saturday's doubleheaders — Michigan State at Michigan, Purdue-Northwestern.

The California Department of Fish and Game reports that California license agents sold 29,732 Arizona Use Permits for angling in the Colorado River during 1955.

30 Los Angeles Civic Leaders Revealed As SecretFundCommittee

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A "blue-book" group of 30 Los Angeles civic leaders was revealed Thursday as organizer of a secret $71,235 fund reportedly used for illegal payments to University of Southern California athletes.

Records at the county clerk's office show the group organized in 1949 as the Southern California Educational Foundation.

It includes two judges, a past national commander of the American Legion, former USC football heroes and prominent business and civic personages.

The articles of incorporation said the purpose of the organization is to "assist worthy high school graduates . . . to attain the advantages of higher education. . . ."

Among those signing as incorporators were Superior Judges Clement D. Nye and Clarence Kincaid; Lewis K. Gough, former national commander of the American Legion; Ransom M. Callicott, wealthy restaurant owner and now a city councilman, former USC football star Marshall Duffield, and Gwynne Wilson, general manager of Santa Anita race track.

Activities of the foundation were disclosed Wednesday by a prominent UCLA alumnus, J. Miller Leavy. He did not identify it by name but said he had forwarded to the Pacific Coast Conference comissioner, Victor O. Schmidt, documentary evidence that more than 60 USC athletes over a two-year span had been paid $71,235 in under - the - table help from the booster group.

Leavy said the fund was used to pay athletes over a two-year period in excess of $75 a month.

Leavy is a deputy district attorney and a member of the UCLA Athletic Advisory Board. He emphasized that he was acting purely as a UCLA alumnus.

He steadfastly refused to disclose the source of information which he said was contained in the registered letter sent to Commissioner Schmidt.

Thursday, officials of the PCC were en route home from their stormy meeting at Victoria, B.C., where heavy penalties were slapped on UCLA and Washington. Both schools were punished for violation of the athletic code in paying athletes.

Big Ten's Track Aces Open Two-Day Meet At Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) With favored Michigan menaced by Iowa and the sprint events thrown into a free-for-all, the Big Ten's track aces open their two-day conference meet Friday at the University of Minnesota.

Only Iowa and possibly Indiana were conceded a chance to head off a repeat championship for Michigan's talent-jammed Wolverines.

Jim Kelly, Minnesota track coach and the man who will direct Uncle Sam's Olympic track and field forces, said "I can't see anybody in sight to stop Michigan. They've got too much depth for anybody else." But other coaches see Iowa strong enough to make a finish fight out of it.

If Kelly is right, most of the suspense might be wrapped up in such individual struggles as the dashes, where the absence of Northwestern's Jim Golliday has left the field wide open; the high hurdles' duel between Joe Savoldi Jr. of Michigan State and Les Stevens of Iowa, and the record bid of Iowa middle distance man Ted Wheeler.

A leg muscle injury which sidelined Golliday all spring forced withdrawal of the 1955 Big Ten and NCAA 100 and 220-yard dash champion from the conference meet.

With Golliday out the most likely sprint champions are Bob McKown of Illinois, Charlie Carroll of Northwestern, Bill Garner of Minnesota, Bob Brown of Michigan, Ed Brabham of Michigan State and Glenn Davis of Ohio State.

Few conference records were considered in jeopardy. But Wheeler is accorded the best chance to break through, in the half-mile and the mile. He already has been timed at 4:07.5, under the Big Ten meet record for the mile.

Another record possibility is Michigan's Ron Wallingford in the two-mile.

Michigan also has four defending champions—Mark Booth in the high jump, Dave Owen in the shot put, half-miler Peter Gray and pole vaulter Bob Appleman.

But teammate Eeles Landstrom is favored to wrest the pole vault crown from Appleman and Gray ranks behind Iowa's Wheeler.

Other topnotchers in the field include Greg Bell of Indiana, an Olympic broad jump prospect, Minnesota's Bryl Thompson in the discus and Don Ward of Indiana in the 440.

JSH Redlegs Entertain Arenzville Tonight

The Redlegs will start Jack McNeeley on the mound for tonight's encounter with Arenzville. Dale Heaton and Eddie Hymes will be available for relief duty should McNeeley have troubles.

Arenzville will throw one of the Redlegs' hurlers at the JSH nine in the person of George Manker. Manker was the winning pitcher for the Redlegs in their victory over the State Farm Chiefs.

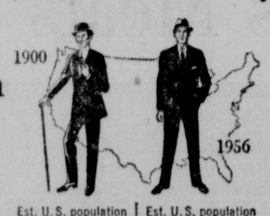

Bill Hovey, who has been the big gun in the Redlegs' hitting attack, will not be present for the tilt tonight because of graduation exercises at New Berlin. However, the JSH shortstop will be back in action for Sunday's game. Hovey has clouted eight home runs in nine games so far this season.

The lineup for the Redlegs will be Jimmy Costello, catch; Howie DeGroot, first base; Farrell Mitchell, second base; Earl Furlong, shortstop; Erle Lair, third base, and Hymes, Heaton, Stansfield or Hembrough in the outfield.

GRAINS DRIFT LOWER IN DULL MARKET

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (AP)—Most grain drifted a little lower in what brokers described as the dullest session in many weeks on the Board of Trade Thursday.

The downward drift was most pronounced in wheat. At times the bread grain was off more than a cent and it wound up with large fractional losses.

In other cereals rye scored small gains against the general trend while July corn and July soybeans held steady.

Wheat closed ⅝-⅞ lower, corn unchanged to ⅜ lower, oats ⅛-¼ lower, rye ¼-½ higher, soybeans 1¼ lower to ¼ higher and lard 3 to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher.

While there was a little additional rain parts of the winter wheat belt, main depressing influence was expansion of the harvest of new crop wheat in Texas and southern Oklahoma. The crop is ahead of last year.

Cash corn continued to act better than the futures, although old crop months sold at their best prices for the week. No. 2 yellow corn went at $1.57¼ in the spot market compared with $1.52 last Friday.

Scattered selling entered new crop corn and soybeans on good crop prospects but the pressure never was heavy. The support price on soybeans this year will be higher than last year while corn grown outside allocations will receive government suport for the first time.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Rails, convertibles and quality investment issues declined under moderate pressure in a generally lower bond market Thursday.

Convertibles, following the pattern of their stock counterparts, were hardest hit, with losses ranging more than $2.

U. S. Treasury obligations advanced in fairly brisk trading in the over-the-counter market.

Corporate volume increased to $4,230,000 par value from $4,070,000 Wednesday.

The rail segment of The Associated Press index of 60 representative bonds touched a new low for the year.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — A steadily declining stock market stumbled badly near the close Thursday and took its sharpest setback since May 10.

In the heaviest burst of selling of the week, leading issues took losses of $1 to $4.

The ticker tape lagged behind three minutes near the close in reporting transactions from the floor.

The market was mixed at the start and made a faint-hearted attempt at a rally in mid-morning but this died quickly.

From then on the decline was steady. Trading activity picked up whenever prices weakened, slowed down when they firmed — a bearish sign.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $2.50 to $177.60, its lowest point since Feb. 21, more than a week before President Eisenhower said he would run for re-election.

The industrial component slipped $3.90, the rails $2.60 and the utilities 20 cents.

Trading volume totaled 2,600,000 shares compared with 2,140,000 Wednesday.

The drop in the average represented an estimated loss of nearly three billion dollars in the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

While there were plenty of bearish statements from national figures to prompt the decline, most market analysts were inclined to regard the break as a technical matter. They noted the averages had tested and broken through a "floor," and refused to rally from it. They looked for the establishment of a new "floor" from which a vigorous rally could be launched.

It was also observed that a number of stocks regained some ground near the close, a cause for hope.

The trend was the same on the American Stock Exchange where volume totaled 1,060,000 shares compared with 980,000 Wednesday.

Unhospitalized Patients Pass TB To 80,000 Yearly

NEW YORK (AP) — People sick with TB, but not in hospitals pass TB to at least 80,000 other persons a year, a health official said today.

These patients are the most important problems now in tuberculosis control, said Dr. Edward X. Mikol, general director of tuberculosis hospitals, New York State Department of Health, Albany.

Mikol, in an address prepared for the National Tuberculosis Assn., discussed a U.S. Public Health Service report showing that 45 per cent of TB patients are not hospitalized.

This study finds 87 per cent of the nonhospitalized patients are in advanced stages of TB. Half are 45 or older. Above age 35, there are twice as many men as women with TB but not hospitalized.

A main implication is that it is "certainly the unhospitalized tuberclosis cases, both the known and unknown, that produce the 80,000 new cases reported each year in this country."

Mikol said the problem calls for more efforts to find and treat persons with TB, particularly in areas, such as poorer economic sections of cities, where they are more prevalent.

Name J.N. Welch Father Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph N. Welch, 65, Boston lawyer, was named "father of the year" Thursday.

Welch was chief counsel for the Army in the televised hearings in the controversy between the Army and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Alvin Austin, director of the Father's Day Committee, said the committee chose Welch "because he is an outstanding champion of our country's Constitution." Welch has two sons, Joseph Jr., and Lyndon.

PROFESSOR AT MARQUETTE FOUND DEAD IN BED

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Rev. John C. Friedl, 57, professor of philosophy at Marquette University, was found dead in bed Thursday in his room at Johnston Hall. University officials said death was due to a heart attack. He had suffered from a heart ailment for some time.

Father Friedl, a native of Wausau, Wis., came to Marquette last August from Kansas City, Mo., where he had been a professor of industrial relations and a faculty member for 17 years. He formerly was principal of Campion High School at Wausau.

EGYPT, ISRAEL AGREE TO DISCUSS PEACE PLAN

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) —A U.N. spokesman said Thursday Egypt and Israel have agreed to talk over with the American chairman of their Mixed Armistice Commission a plan by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to ease tension along the Gaza Strip.

The chairman, Robert Bayard, will meet the two sides separately.

The spokesman said Egypt had refused to talk over the plan within the commission itself while Israeli representatives were in attendance. This type of conference was originally suggested by Hammarskjold.

His scheme calls for establishing U.N. observation posts and mobile observer patrols on both sides of the Gaza Strip armistice line.

Russia Holds Club To Compel Japan To Sign Peace Treaty

and strong elements of his own party, has moved in the opposite direction. He called for a conference with Socialist Chairman Mosaburo Suzuki, whom he previously had refused to meet on the Russian issue.

Hatoyama is reported to be looking toward a quick settlement.

The Soviets have made this particularly desirable. In exchange they have unofficially dangled an offer to back Japan's entry to the United Nations—a greatly coveted goal here.

A Cabinet shakeup to make this possible has been talked of for weeks. The rumors name Shunichi Matsumoto, who has conducted the Soviet peace talks to date, as Shigemitsu's successor in the Foreign Ministry.

The shift, if it come, might precipitate a walkout by Shigemitsu followers. It appears, for the moment, that the Soviet Union has backed Japan into a corner.

If Invited

U.S. Chiefs Of Staff Would Visit Russia

Col. Bachinsky last Monday visited the office of Col. J. H. Lackey, chief of foreign liaison for the U. S. Air Force's intelligence branch. He said he wanted to see Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, to extend an invitation from Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky, chief of the General Staff of the Soviet army — including air force.

Bachinsky advised Lackey, it was indicated, that Marshal Sokolovsky was inviting Gen. Twining to send a delegation of two or three high officers of the air Force to a celebration of Aviation Day in the Soviet Union on June 24. Bachinsky said through an aide that he had not received a reply.

At the Pentagon this explanation was borne out by officials who said Gen. Twining had indeed received word that an invitation — meaning a formal one — to Moscow would be forthcoming.

The wording used by Pentagon officials suggested that the invitation was regarded as being for Twining personally whereas the language used by Col. Bachinsky's office about two or three high-level officers appeared to leave it up to Twining as to whether he would like to go. American officials said Twining promptly reported the development to Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Thursday morning the New York Daily News printed a report attributed to a United Nations source that Russia had sent word to Washington it would welcome a visit by the U. S. military command "for inspection of Soviet armed services."

Initial inquiries about this at the Pentagon, the State Department and the White House evoked only expressions of surprise. Apparently officials who were contacted were unaware of any development beyond the Russian approach to Twining.

BRITON KILLS SELF, BECAUSE OF FAILING SIGHT

PETERSFIELD, England (AP) — A retired naval commander killed himself on a golf course because he was going blind and no longer could play golf, a coroner was told at an inquest Thursday.

Coroner R. N. Sherwell, recorded a verdict of suicide while the balance of mind was disturbed in the case of Alan Edward Stack, 78-year-old former naval paymaster who was found dead Monday on Liphook Links. A revolver was by his side.

A son-in-law of the dead man told the coroner that Cmdr. Stack was depressed because, through failing eyesight, he would have had to give up "his beloved game of golf."

Says Arabs Hold Dead Sea Scrolls For Ransom

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two—possibly more — newly discovered Dead Sea scrolls have been stolen by Arabs and are being held for ransom, a leading authority on the documents said Wednesday.

Dr. William F. Albright, professor of Semitic languages at Johns Hopkins University, said in a lecture that the discovery of these scrolls had not been previously announced.

He said they were found in the same area near the Dead Sea which has yielded over the past nine years a fabulous find of manuscripts dating to Biblical times. The first scrolls were found in jars in a cave a few yards from the headquarters of the Essenes, an historic Jewish sect.

Joe, 27-Day-Old Stowaway, Arrives In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The littlest "stowaway" ever to reach New York arrived Thursday aboard the Liner Independence — Giuseppe Fabozzi, 27 days old.

Small as he is, he set off a full-sized uproar over the question of whether he really was or was not a stowaway.

Little Joe was born after his Italian parents, Mr. and Mrs. Saverio Fabozzi, received a visa to come to this country.

They didn't know exactly what to do, so they just bundled him aboard ship without telling anybody. Ship's pursers, taking a nose count of passengers, soon spotted him.

Immigration people went into a long huddle on the stowaway question as soon as the ship docked. Finally they decided that a child born after its mother receives a visa may travel on hers.

That settled, the ship people themselves had something to say: if little Joe wasn't a stowaway, then he was a regular passenger. Passengers, even tiny babies, must pay.

Elijah, Prodigal Horse, Calm At Welcome Home

BUENA VISTA, Colo. (AP) — A tumultous welcome rang today in the shaggy ears of Elijah, the prodigal horse.

Those ears hardly twitched, however, as Elijah took his honors with composure.

A band blared, signs went up and a parade formed in this western Colorado community Wednesday night to celebrate Elijah's return from the 13,000-foot mountain ridge where he was trapped much of the winter.

"He didn't seem to give a damn about the whole thing," Gilbert Gregg, Buena Vista weekly newspaper publisher, said.

Elijah was due to take more bows at today's opening of quarter horse races at the Centennial Track south of Denver.

A haylift by light plane sustained Elijah—named after the biblical prophet fed by ravens—after his plight was discovered in February.

His owners, Al and Bill Turner, brought him down from his mountain fastness, at times shoveling through drifts 10 to 20 feet deep. He was whisked the last 11 miles in a horse trailer Wednesday.

The Turners say Elijah once was Bugs, a pack horse wont to fleet into the hills to escape automobiles and women in skirts. But his name will remain Elijah from here on.

Senate Passes Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed a big new housing bill Thursday, including provision for 500,000 more public housing units and billions of dollars in credit and insurance for new home construction.

Approval was on a voice vote. The measure, going far beyond what President Eisenhower wants in the way of a housing program, still has to be voted on in the House.

Senators wrote into the bill a one-year extension of the GI home loan program, under which more than four million dwellings have been built. They voted to keep the program going until July 25, 1958, to help veterans who still want to buy homes and to aid in maintaining the health of the construction industry.

Beaten down was an attempt by administration forces to substitute Eisenhower's public housing recommendations for the much larger program in the omnibus bill.

STREET DIVIDES DRIES FROM WETS

GRAND BEND, Ont. (AP)—It may be legal to drink on one side of the main street here and not on the other.

Huron County is one of the two in Canada still operating under the Temperance Act. In 1951 Lambton County annexed part of the village north of the main street.

The Ontario Court of Appeal has just reserved judgment on whether the annex area is still dry.

The spokesman said an Egyptian military mission also is expected to attend the show.

President Prods Congress On Bills He Wants Passed

No action appears in sight on presidential health programs, on Taft-Hartley changes or the policing of union funds.

The House Judiciary Comittee has approved a civil rights bill but it has not been scheduled for House consideration and is not given much chance in the Senate.

Last January in his State of the Union message, Eisenhower proposed about a hundred pieces of legislation. Some have been passed in one form or another, such as the second-round farm bill Congress voted Wednesday, while others await action.

PRAISE FOREMAN FOR PREVENTING TRAIN WRECK

APPLETON, Wis. (AP) —Soo Line officials praised Appleton yard foreman Frank Theyel Thursday for his work in preventing a small train wreck Sunday after three boys had piled enough debris on the tracks to derail it.

Theyel, 50, spotted the collection of tie plates, stones and planks in time to slow a 41-car freight to five miles an hour before it reached the pile. The front wheels of the engine actually climbed up on some of the tie plates before it stopped.

The three boys — aged 8, 10 and 11 — were turned over to juvenile authorities.

Two Jacksonville Colleges Aided By Standard Oil Co.

Twenty independent liberal arts colleges in Illinois including Illinois College and MacMurray College of this city, today received gifts totalling $38,500 from the Standard Oil Foundation, for use in helping increase faculty salaries. This is an increase of $5,500 over the amount contributed by this company in each of the past three years. The gift is Illinois' share of the $175,000 which the Standard Oil Foundation set aside this year to aid some 145 private colleges in a 14 state midwest region.

The grant, made to Associated Colleges of Illinois, will provide approximately $2,000 each for the recipient colleges.

In accepting the grant, Dr. Theodore P. Stephens, president of Aurora College and president of the Illinois association of liberal arts colleges declared, "The service to privately supported higher education in our state which this increased grant represents can not be over emphasized. With the cost of all goods and services steadily mounting, the colleges are finding it increasingly difficult to raise the money necessary to pay adequate salaries to the men and women on their faculties. The only alternative to grants of this nature from business and industry would be to raise the tuition fees to the point that higher education in this country would be a luxury rather than a right and a privilege."

Local Men Go To Production Credit Meeting

R. B. Tootell, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D. C., which supervises the Cooperative Farm Credit System, is scheduled to talk at a dinner meeting the opening day. Stanley A. Morrow, president of the Production Credit Corporation of St. Louis, and J. R. Cosgrove, president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Louis, will also be featured speakers during the two-day session.

Dr. L. B. Howard, Dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, and staff members of the Department of Agricultural Economics, and of the College of Commerce, will participate in the program.

AWARD CARNIVAL CONTRACT FOR 1956 STATE FAIR

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) —For the fourth straight year, the Amusement Corp. of Chicago has been awarded the carnival contract for the 1956 Illinois State Fair, Gov. Stratton announced Thursday.

The agreement calls for the state to receive 40 per cent of the gross receipts. Last year the state got $68,839 from the carnival operation.

Stratton said the contract permits the fair to determine the location of each concession and prohibits "gambling, immorality or swindling in connection with the carnival."

Ultrasonic vibrations are being used to discourage barnacles on ship's bottoms.

BLOOD BADLY NEEDED!
CAN YOU SPARE A PINT?

This is the last appeal to the public to furnish blood at the Bloodmobile Center in Grace Methodist church, between noon and 6 p.m. today.

Blood is badly needed! The blood donated by Morgan county citizens on previous visits of the Bloodmobile was not sufficient to supply needs of the Jacksonville hospitals.

The last visit of the Bloodmobile to this city was in February. All those who donated blood at that time are eligible to give blood again. New donors are especially needed.

This is your chance to help somebody. Life-giving blood is always needed in hospitals where emergencies are ever-existent. If you are in good health, and want to do a good turn for humanity, visit the Bloodmobile today!

The Jacksonville quota of pints will fall far short unless there is an immediate surge of public interest today.

Bluffs Man Injured In Car-Truck Crash

Clyde H. Williams, 70, of Bluffs sustained severe injuries near 6:45 p.m. Thursday when his car and a semi-trailer truck collided on route 104 about a mile and a quarter east of Meredosia.

The driver of the truck, 36-year-old Herbert Rielley of 217 East Washington street, Chambersburg, Penn., was unhurt.

Williams was taken to Passavant Hospital in Jacksonville by Schaefer (Meredosia) ambulance. His injuries include a dislocated left hip, a fracture of the left knee, wounds of the right elbow, right forearm and left knee, and chest injuries of undetermined extent.

Williams did not lose consciousness.

"Didn't See" Truck

His daughter, Mrs. Margaret Watson, Journal Courier correspondent in Bluffs, reported that her father said he never saw the truck coming.

Mrs. Watson donated a pint of blood to the Red Cross earlier Thursday. "I never dreamed my father would get it back tonight," she said.

Williams was driving east on route 104, alone in his 1953 Plymouth. Rielley was headed west, bound from Pennsylvania to Quincy, driving an empty 1953 Autocar diesel tractor-trailer rig.

Lost Control

The crash occurred when Williams, for a reason unknown Thursday night, lost control of his car, which veered across the highway into the westbound lane. Several persons who viewed the wreck site said Williams apparently "blacked out" at the wheel.

The truck driver saw the runaway Plymouth coming and swerved to the right in an effort to avoid collision.

The big Autocar was about half off the pavement when the Plymouth plowed into its left front fender, then raked along the side of the truck, smashing the running board and gas tank and finally careening off the left tires of the trailer.

Plymouth Total Loss

Spun around by the final impact, the Plymouth reversed direction and wound up in the ditch on the south side of the road. It was demolished.

State policemen Charles Batley and Reginald Fulks assisted at the scene of the accident.

Williams' wife, Caroline, a 65-year-old semi-invalid, was also brought to Passavant Hospital for care Thursday night.

Her room adjoins her husband's.

Safety Lane Open Two More Days; 1039 Cars Tested

City police officers Stafford and Runkel, co-chairmen of the automobile safety lane now operating on West Morgan street, said Thursday night that a total of 1039 cars had been tested at the end of four days of operation.

The lane will remain in operation through Saturday. It is open from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Members of Jacksonville service clubs have donated services in connection with the lane.

Monday the Knights of Columbus helped check 248 cars, Tuesday the Rotary Club helped check 247 cars; Wednesday the Exchange Club helped check 244 cars and Thursday the Lions Club helped test 300 cars.

Of the cars examined for mechanical defects so far, 744 passed all tests on their first trip through the lane. Of 196 rejected the first time, owners of 99 have had repairs made and returned for a second trip through the lane and an "OK" sticker.

Members of the Kiwanis Club and the Jacksonville Junior Chamber of Commerce will assist at the lane Friday and Saturday, respectively.

Car owners are not required to pass through the safety lane, nor are they required to correct any mechanical defects the tests may show. Participation is entirely voluntary, and the test results are only advisory.

Ollie B. Recker Buried Thursday

Mrs. Elsie Jones and Mrs. Emma Stout cared for the flowers.

Nineteen Boy Scouts of troop 103 attended the services as a group.

U.S. Probe Into Missing Ransom Hits More Snags

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The government's continuing investigation into the mystery of the missing half of the $600,000 Greenlease ransom ran into another stumbling block Thursday.

U. S. District Judge George H. Moore upheld the rights of former Patrolman Elmer Dolan and John F. Kinney, former Ace Cab Co. supervisor, in their refusal to testify before a federal grand jury.

The men were the third and fourth witnessses who refused to submit to interrogation in the current inquiry, now in recess until Monday.

Others who balked before the jury were Joseph Costello, ex-convict head of the taxi firm and a central figure in the inquiry and Mrs. Costello. They also were upheld by Judge Moore.

Dolan, who recently completed a two-year prison term for perjury in connection with the case, testified before a grand jury at Kansas City and the government contended this was a waiver of his right to claim self-incrimination.

Judge Moore upheld the defense that the Kansas City inquiry was a separate proceeding in a different division of federal court.

Dolan and former Police Lt. Louis Shoulders arrested the kidnap-killers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease of Kansas City in October, 1953. Shoulders also was convicted of perjury and still is in prison.

Stevenson Denies Kefauver Charges

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Adlai Stevenson Thursday night taxed Estes Kefauver with misstating episodes in Stevenson's career both as a lawyer and as an Illinois governor.

Stevenson denied in a statement his Democratic presidential nomination rival's contention that Stevenson was a lawyer for Radio Corp. of America in a federal anti-trust action.

"With reference to Sen. Kefauver's latest charges," said Stevenson, "I must say he is wrong again. I have never represented the Radio Corp. of America in an antitrust suit brought by the government. It was a private suit between RCA and the Zenith Radio Corp. The senator's continued false charges remind me that there is such a thing as wanting to be president too much."

Driver "Blacks Out"; Car Hits Telephone Pole

Earl Bierhaus, 53, of Virginia rural route 3 sustained injuries to his nose and chest Wednesday afternoon when he lost control of his car in the 700 block on North Main street, after which it crashed into a telephone pole.

Bierhaus told police that he "blacked out" while driving south toward the business district, and couldn't explain what happened momentarily, causing him to lose control of his Chevrolet car. The Virginia man had several crates of eggs in the rear of the car, which were broken.

The impact snapped off the telephone pole, but the car did not turn over.

Bierhaus was taken to Passavant hospital by Patrolmen Hank Campbell and Charles Runkel, where he was given emergency treatment. He was able to leave the hospital and returned to his home.

Man Wounded By Beardstown Police; Condition Serious

BEARDSTOWN—Seriously wounded by police bullets here Wednesday, the condition of Bob Russell, 21 year old parolee from the Stateville penitentiary, remained "unchanged" Thursday, it was reported at Schmitt Memorial hospital.

Russell was shot twice by officers in an episode that ended with an automobile crash.

Police attempted to arrest Russell when they noticed his car, without a license plate, in the alley near the Beardstown Implement Co., at 2 a.m.

Russell sped away in his car giving police a hard time before he crashed into a pole at Seventh and Humbolt. Then he started running. After firing several warning shots Chief of Police Andy Harmon, and Officer Bob Hayes both fired a gun. One shot broke Russell's leg and the other hit him in the side. He was taken to the hospital in an ambulance and his condition is described as serious.

It was not determined why Russell tried so desperately to evade police.

He was paroled from Joliet in January, 1956, after serving part of a term of one to five years on his conviction of manslaughter in the stabbing of his mother-in-law in a scuffle at her home in Timewell, where he had gone to see his estranged wife.

BOOSTS LOWER CALIFORNIA

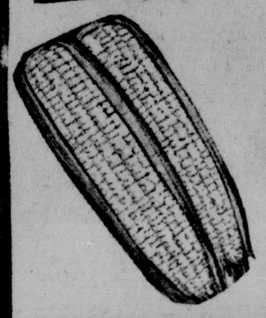

MEXICO CITY (AP) — General Agustin Olachea wants more people to go west—particularly to the territory of Lower California, of which he is governor.

He said this territory on the lower part of the peninsula, most of it still virgin, can absorb around another million people with progressive spirit and willing work for a better life.

He says the coasts are good for fishing, there are mining opportunities, room for industry, and good soil for agriculture. Wheat and cotton growing already are expanding, he said.

MOTHER INSTINCT

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A hen that has been vainly trying to hatch eggs for two years finally adopted kittens.

Mrs. Anna Foster says the hen faithfully laid an egg a day in an old oil drum under the house for the past two years. Then the family cat, Maggie, gave birth to five kittens in the drum.

Mrs. Foster said the hen took over, cuddling the kittens under her wing. "Of course, Maggie has to show up at feeding time," Mrs. Foster says.

FAR FROM THEIR BASE—Kansans were treated to a rare sight recently when hundreds of high-flying sea gulls came in for a landing and free chow on Ellis county farms. A few of them are shown above, over the farm of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Reynolds, near Hays. The birds, en route from the Gulf of Mexico to the northern lake country, were ravenously hungry and were attracted by the worms and grubs turned up by farmers' plows.

Pittsfield P.T.A. Scholarship Won By Norma Jones

PITTSFIELD — The Pittsfield P.T.A. held its final meeting of the year at the high school Monday night, with an unusually good attendance. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Don Sloan, president, with the program being presented as an appreciation to the teachers in the schools of the city.

The musical program presented consisted of a band concert, directed by Don Kimpling, band leader and teacher; numbers by the glee club under the direction of Mrs. Moody Murray, music instructor; music by the sixth grade students, directed by Miss Evelyn Ransom, music teacher in the elementary grades; and a piano solo by Kay Willard.

Miss Norma Jones, daughter of Mrs. Viola Jones, a senior in the high school, was presented with the P.T.A. teachers' scholarship as an outstanding student and potential teacher by Mrs. Robert Brim of Perry, past president of the district P.T.A.

Miss Jones will receive $250 a year for four years from a fund built up by the P.T.A. for the purpose of encouraging graduates to enter the teaching profession. She is presently in New York with the senior class on its spring tour and the scholarship was accepted for her by her mother.

Miss Minna Bauch, superintendent of the elementary schools of the city who is retiring this year, was presented with a beautiful pair of lamps, which she graciously accepted.

A number of teachers received corsages for length of service as teachers in the schools, following a tribute to the teachers and their length of service by J. H. Voshall, superintendent of Pittsfield Unit schools.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, mothers of the seventh and eighth grades.

During a brief business session, Mrs. Myron Davis, president of the Band Boosters Club, reported $3700 now in the treasury and Mrs. William Kraybill gave a report on remedial reading.

Thinking It Over—

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

The broad interests of some people amaze us.

We are more than a little surprised at the clergyman who knows jazz music and its proponents. The jockey who knows art is a phenomenon. The ship captain who does needlepoint appears incongrouous as does the psychologist who knows pugilism.

The knowledge of these people is entertaining, but the real reason for our amazement is that most of us know so little. We live in small little worlds and confine our interests to really trivial things. We envy the person who has travelled and who remembers what he has seen.

We could cease to live circumscribed lives if we were to spend a few minutes a day studying some subject beyond the limits of our routine activities.

We might never win a quiz program and we might never receive public acclaim. But we could better serve man and God if we broadened our horizons to the point that we could listen intelligently to other people.

After all, one of man's greatest spiritual and social responsibilities is to help other people. We can help people more by listening to them than by talking to them. God does more listening than talking.

Most of us do not give Him much chance to talk to us. When we pray we do all the talking and as soon as we are through talking we turn our attention to other interests.

TRANSPORT MARS RUNWAY

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—The Pueblo city government has billed Congress for $4,400 to pay for repairing an airport runway the city claimed was damaged by an Air Force transport flying flood relief supplies to Tampico, Mexico.

Jack Keeler, director of aviation, said the city had to remove the runway blacktop, repack the base and relay surfacing after the transport's landing here.

MISS IS EFFECTIVE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—When a man broke into Mrs. William Harbison's kitchen, she grabbed her husband's .22 caliber rifle and fired once. The shot went wild, but the man fled.

She didn't know that for a while. Mrs. Harbison fainted as she pulled the trigger.

Waverly Unit To Visit Mills At Springfield

WAVERLY—The Waverly Unit of Morgan-Scott Home Bureau members were guests of Mrs. Gordon Hankins, Thursday, May 17th.

In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Carney, the meeting was in charge of Mrs. James Handy and opened with the pledge to the flag. After the reading of the minutes by Miss Walters ten members responded to roll call by giving their favorite flower. Mrs. Turner was the only guest.

Mrs. Elmer Huyear gave a very interesting local leader lesson, on "Floor Finishes," in which she showed samples of wood, brushes for painting and told of costs of finishing. Seeing the hardwood, soft wood or block prefinished types of wood, with her explanation of wearing and the finishing made it very interesting.

Mrs. Ray McCollum read the selected subject of "Oven Meals."

Mrs. Huyear told of the unit radio program May 15th and the highlights of the board meeting were read. Members turned in contest sheets.

The members decided to visit Pillsbury Mills in Springfield June 21st and have Phyllis Fox show her Dutch Maid blouses, hose, etc. at the next meeting. All members are invited to attend the 4-H meeting any time.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ford attended the funeral of an aunt of Mr. Ford's, Mrs. Martha Erwin, in Vandalia Thursday afternoon.

Last Monday Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cowman and granddaughters, Anita and Kathy Kyle, who have been here some time visiting Mrs. Cowman and Mrs. Andy Taylor, drove to Oleny where Mr. Cowman visited his brother, Wm. Cowman and Mrs. Cowman went on to Louisville, Ky., with her granddaughters, taking them home to their mother, Mrs. Melvin Kyle, and they returned home Thursday.

Presbyterians To Discuss Race Bar; Other Problems

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. today began seven days of deliberation on such subjects as union with the United Presbyterian Church, segregation and a $24,344,063 budget.

The retiring moderator — Dr. Paul S. Wright of Portland, Ore.—laid the stress on the church's growing world scope in a sermon opening the General Assembly's sessions.

Before the general assembly winds up its sessions on Memorial Day, delegates from virtually all of the 48 states will decide whether to approve a "plan of union" with the United Presbyterian Church, a branch confined mostly to Pennsylvania.

The two groups attempted a merger with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S., a southern branch, but the latter last year rejected the proposal. The other two then decided to go ahead on their own.

The new denomination would be identied as the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. with a combined membership of three million. The presbyteries and general assemblies of both branches would have to give the plan their approval. The general assemblies of the two churches would be merged at a meeting in Pittsburgh in 1958.

At a pre-assembly rally Wednesday night, Dr. Billy Graham strongly urged that the church take a firm stand on "such vital issues as segregation."

$64,000 Question Man Scores High College Expenses

By LEIF ERICKSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bergen Evans, the man who thinks up $64,000 questions, is "aghast at the burden parents bear to send their children through college."

At $2,000 a year, it now costs $16,000 to send two through college, Evans said Wednesday night. "That, I am sure, eats up more than the lifetime savings of the average parents."

Evans, Northwestern University professor of English, spoke at a banquet for delegates to the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. The Congress ends today.

Evans told a news conference before the banquet:

"The prices for higher education have soared. . . . Society has been caught off base."

In particular, he said, medical education costs have gone up, and "it takes seven years and more to turn out a doctor."

"Only doctors now can afford to send their sons to medical school," he said. "There isn't a chance for a laboring man's son to get to be a doctor."

Evans, son of a doctor and father of two boys, augments his faculty salary by drafting all but the baseball questions for The $64,000 Question television program. He said he doesn't produce the baseball questions because "I don't like intellectuals pretending an enthusiasm for baseball."

Society soon will be deciding whether it wants its doctors to come from the talented and the skilled, or those who can afford it, Evans continued.

"The question we are skirting is: Can democracy stop short of socialism?" he said. "I assume that it can't. There will be more state financing for education.

"Through taxes is one way our democracy is approaching closer to socialism.

"How many are there in our country now who earn—I mean earn—$100,000 a year? I'd say there can't be many more than a hundred. After taxes they keep $33,000.

"The ordinary working man gets $5,000 a year, and there isn't much bite out of his take-home pay. So we can say that the top talented men of our time can take home in money only seven times as much as the ordinary worker in our society."

The Rev. H. L. Janvrin, the pastor, will bring the special message, "A Bible Reader's Guide."

SMOKING IN NEST CAUSES FIRE

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — Firemen have listed "smoking in a nest" as the cause of a fire that caused considerable damage to a two-story frame house here. Fire Chief H. S. Callihan said the fire started Sunday in the eves of a house owned by Mrs. Ulric Warne. The chief said a bird carried a smoldering cigar butt to a nest it was building there.

Tuscola Seeks ICC Approval Of Refund Plan

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Citizens Gas Co. of Tuscola today sought Illinois Commerce Commission approval of a plan to refund $32,216 to gas service customers in six communities.

They are Arthur, Atwood, Chrisman, Newman, Tuscola and Villa Grove.

With approval, the refund will start on Billings on or after June 30. Refunds will be made by decreasing the cost of each therm of gas by three-tenths of one cent until the entire amount is refunded.

The Federal Power Commission found that Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. the Citizen Gas Co.'s wholesale supplier, was charging excessive rates and ordered the refund to the latter.

The Illinois commission has announced a policy of ordering refunds to retail consumers of gas when they are found to have paid any excess.

In other actions, the commission:

Extended the temporary certificate of Illini Airlines, Inc. to operate as an air carrier between Rockford, Freeport, Sterling and Chicago until the commission completes taking testimony on the company's application to serve the area. It has been operating without a certificate.

Directed its staff to make an investigation of the books of Rockford Transit Co. which is asking a bus fare increase in Rockford and environs.

Suspended and set for hearing June 19 at Chicago the petition of Northland Greyhound Lines, Inc. for increased one way fares between Chicago and South Beloit via Rockford and between Freeport and East Dubuque.

Suspended and set for hearing June 20 in Chicago the petition of Peoria - Rockford Bus Co. for increased bus fares in its operations between Rockford, Peoria and Bloomington and over the route of the former Carbondale - Harrisburg Coach Line between East St. Louis, Pinckneyville, Harrisburg and Crossville. The latter line is owned by Peoria-Rockford Bus Co.

Tells Proposal For Government To Buy CA&E

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Governmental purchase and eventual operation of the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin Railroad was outlined Wednesday by Gov. Stratton.

The governor said the proposal, which would mean an outlay of about $9,280,000, would accomplish continuation of rail service between Chicago and the western suburbs. It would also expedite construction of the Congress Street expressway and the building of toll roads, he said.

Under the plan, the state, City of Chicago, Cook County and the Illinois Toll Road Commission would buy for 5½ million dollars the right of way owned by the railroad. It will be used for the expressway.

Besides, the state would receive an option to buy the rest of the railroad's real property, exclusive of rolling stock, for $3,780,000.

The option would be in effect until June 30, 1957. Until then the railroad would be obliged under the plan to remain in operation, unless the Legislature in the meantime decided otherwise.

Stratton said he believes the railroad's stockholders will accept the proposal. The railroad has asked the commission for authority to abandon service.

The governor said the Chicago Transit Authority would eventually operate the line under his plan.

He said that acquisition of land owned by the CA&E is needed to complete the Congress Street expressway, part of State Route 6, and the projected tri-state toll road.

Still to be determined he said, is what shares of the 5½ million dollars would be borne by Cook County, Chicago, the Toll Road Commission and the state.

Stratton said he intends to present to the Legislature a comprehensive plan to handle mass transportation in the Chicago metropolitan area.

WATERED THEFT

WENONA, Ill. (AP)—Watered gasoline enabled Sheriff James Evans to capture two youths who had been feeding their old model car on a farmer's gasoline supply for several months.

Cyril Senninger reported the thefts, and Deputy Kenneth Kenyon suggested Senninger add five gallons of water to three gallons of gasoline in the tank used to supply fuel for farm machinery.

The youths made their usual appearance, helped themselves but got only a mile away from the farm on the mixture.

Tightens Grip On Colonies-

Britain Celebrates Fortieth Empire Day

LONDON (AP) — Britain, celebrating the 40th anniversary of Empire Day today, has hardened her resolve to hold several restless overseas bastions no matter how much the people there want to get rid of the Union Jack.

The British resolve to remain ruler of strategic outposts—proclaimed by Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd in a speech this week—cuts across a traditional policy of leading colonies to political independence. The idea was that the colonies, once freed, would continue to coordinate their military, economic and foreign policies with Britain's as members of the British Comomnwealth.

That policy still applies to "non-strategic" imperial territories. But mounting anti-British campaigns in Cyprus and Singapore—and the ambitions of Aden's neighbors Saudi Arabia and Yemen—promise little hope for Britain's influence once she releases those outlying military outposts.

"It would be a breach of faith with the rising generation," Lloyd said, "for us to cast away those overseas possessions which are vital to our strategic interests."

The foreign minister specifically named Cyprus in the eastern Mediterranean, Aden a sentinel point for the Suez Canal, Arabian Sea and the Indian Ocean and Singapore, crossroads of Southeast Asia.

Lloyd's statement also applies to three other fortress-colonies—Gibraltar and Malta in the Mediterranean, and Hong Kong, on the South China Sea and Red China's southern doorstep. But their inhabitants have given on signs they want to break with Britain. If anything, they have sought to strengthen their links.

Of the nonstrategic territories, Lloyd observed:

"We have been taking risks, in my view rightly, in heaping responsibility on those who, in theory, may not yet be fully ready for it."

He obviously had in mind Britain's promise of full independence to Malaya by August 1957 to the Gold Coast on the westward bulge of Africa after a general election, and to the project for a self-governing Caribbean federation.

RAPS CREEPS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Drivers who creep too slowly down two-lane roads and those who hog the passing lanes of wider highways are going to be special targets for the California highway patrol.

Commissioner B. R. Caldwell said today, "There are far too many accidents caused by drivers traveling too slow and by those who persist in staying in the passing lanes illegally."

Living Costs Rise Slightly During April

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today living costs increased slightly in April. The rise of two-tenths of 1 per cent was enough to give about a million workers a one-cent-an-hour wage boost.

The wage rise will go to auto and other workers who have union contracts tied to the government's index.

The Labor Department said the April rise in its living costs index was chiefly due to seasonably higher food costs for the average American family.

The index kept by the Bureau of Labor Statistics rose to 114.9 per cent of the 1947-49 base period.

This is one-half of 1 per cent below the peak set in October 1953, when the index was 115.4.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, said the prospect for the summer months is a further gradual rise in food prices with perhaps lower prices for some consumer items such as automobiles and household appliances.

He said he hesitated to forecast that living costs will continue to rise through the summer but saw no sign that they will decline at least until fall.

There are more than 100,000 steam locomotives in operation outside the United States.

Lightning Hits Jerseyville Home; Damaged By Fire

JERSEYVILLE, Ill.—Lightning struck the dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Lamb near the east limits of the city of Jerseyville during the onset of a series of all night thunderstorms in the locality about 11 p.m. Tuesday.

Lamb and one of his neighbors, Robert Steckel discovered the fact that the upper story of the Lamb country residence was afire about the same time. The Jerseyville Fire Department was called and succeeded in putting out the blaze. The department remained on the job for some time as small places in the roof of the dwelling would break into a small blaze from time to time at various points in the structure.

Lamb reported that he was not aware that the bolt of lightning had set fire to the dwelling until some minutes after it was hit. The damage to the dwelling and contents could not be determined up to Wednesday afternoon, but reported as heavy.

Junior Club At Ashland Ends Successful Year

ASHLAND—The Ashland Junior Woman's club held its annual spring banquet Thursday evening, May 17th at the Village Inn in Springfield, closing a very successful club season.

The theme of the banquet was "Hawaii" with the tables being decorated with leis, hula dancers and flowers.

Evelyn Farmer and Janet Jurgens gave very interesting reports of the state convention held in Chicago, which they recently attended. Mrs. Raymond Allen, retiring president, gave a resume of the year's activities and pointed with pride at the many things the club has participated in this season.

Mrs. Sinclair Savage, retiring senior contact chairman, installed the following new officers: President, Janet Jurgens; vice-president, Lois Yancy; secretary, Janet Williams; treasurer, Eleanor Plattner; and senior contact chairman, Mrs. Homer Butler. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Savage in appreciation of their work.

The new president named the following committee chairman for next club season: Program, Joan Nordsiek; social, Shirley Duling, and membership, Evelyn Farmer.

BIG DEPOSIT

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Lee Marmon dropped in at Albuquerque bank to make a deposit. The teller politely handed him a blank and suggested he fill it out. He did so, right at the window. She gasped. It was a deposit of $153,000. When the teller got her breath back, Marmon, treasurer of the Laguna Tribe, explained the money was from the tribal fund.

STEVE CANYON — By MILTON CANIFF

Tall Drifter

By W. Edmunds Claussen

Copr. 1956 by W. Edmunds Claussen. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Frank Ude decides there is something strange about Emmett Cash, leader of a horse outfit. When a string of horses was taken by force from Cash, he showed no disposition to try to get them back. Cash, Ude decides, is a horse thief.

• • •

III

FRANK UDE veered from the high rock escarpments and quartered across a cactus scarred desert where neither sign of recent horse track nor of man marked the terrain. He crossed at length into more fertile country, picking up the winding channel of the Skull, and so came to the cross-roads of Cashtown. The place was a collection of frame and adobe shacks standing beneath the ledge of a pine-covered mountain. Constant dust devils raced back and forth as vagrant winds stirred the road's surface.

The place offered all the flavor of a cowtown with its two-story hotel on one corner and a galleried saloon opposite. Across the main street stood a row of wooden stores, a bank, an eating house, a store displaying second-hand furniture and an odd collection of musical instruments. A slim, dark-haired man with somewhat classical features stood before the store front facing the hotel. He was dressed in black trousers and a dark shirt with a flowered neckpiece and Frank noted none of the marks of a cowman about him.

Frank's gelding had loosened a shoe on its forefoot on the trek up the Skull so that the first thing he did was hunt up a smithy. He found the shop on a side street, a weathered and warped building with a sign: Swenson's Blacksmith.

A pair of rusty cannon balls had been set into a narrow concrete slab beside the stable doors. Frank drew his gaze to the lumbering Swede wiping his forge-blackened arms on his apron.

"Gettysburg," the blacksmith imparted sparingly.

"So?" and now Frank's gaze returned to the cannon balls. "Is that where you got your limp?"

The Swede nodded. "Day after Lee's army retreated I walked over their artillery positions. That's all I found of Tom Carter's field pieces. When I stooped after the iron balls a sniper busted a hole in my britches."

Swenson imparted this information without a break in his leathery face. Down the street of life man has his high points that remain aglow until the end, and Frank knew the episode of Colonel Carter's cannon balls was the apex of Swenson's life. The Swede's thoughtful glance swept over the gelding. He found the small Anchor brand on the neck but this meant nothing in Cashtown. Anchor was beyond the high plateau country, almost at the border. The unveiled suspicion behind the Swede's eyes told plainly something was wrong in Cashtown, some factor that kept unrest alive.

• • •

THE smith's hand crept over the horse, testing its muscles. He asked, "Ride far?"

Frank smiled over the man's attempted subtlety. "The name's Frank Ude. No one's following my backtrail. At least none close enough to catch up."

It was on his mind to ask if the Swede knew Emmett, if he knew anything about the raid on the Cash horses, or that Ed Rambaut was dead. Then looking at the Swede's face a warning quickly stopped his questions. There ought to be law in this town, but it didn't seem in evidence. Or maybe the law was all one-sided. He asked presently, "Can a good hand find a job on this range?"

Swenson kept on studying Frank. What he found graded up rather high in his estimation. A tall, rangy man with lean hips and flat, straight shoulders. A trail-dusted drifter with a tight jaw and clear eyes, perhaps a little harder than an honest man possessed, but this firmness of character was what Cashtown needed. If the stranger's gunhand was as swift as he suspected Swenson was ready to recommend a job.

"It just could be you'd fit," he decided. "Ever work for a woman?"

He saw the frail smile vanish from Frank's face. Swenson read behind this man's carefully worn mask. At some time a woman had got beneath his outer callousness and left her claws in tender flesh. Swede thought: "She's maybe busted you up too much for salvaging. Or maybe you weren't no good in the first place."

A faint unbending of Frank's mouth wiped away his first displeasure. "I won't work for an outfit where there's a woman. The gelding don't take to them, either. Don't cotton to women bossing him."

• • •

THE SWEDE shook the oily sweat off his forehead and grinned lopsidedly.

"Women're getting pesky on this range, same as on any other. Let me think about it, stranger."

Frank watched him lift the gelding's right forefoot, sensing the admiration this man felt for his horse. Satisfied the Swede was a master of his profession he swung away.

The smell of deep-fries drifting between buildings reminded him he was hungry. He found the restaurant a few doors down the false-fronted block: Cashtown Restaurant. He leaned his shoulder point against the slabboard wall while he built himself a smoke, considering the town.

The slim man was still leaning against the front of the furniture store, watching with an expectant gaze. Frank turned his attention to the Corbin House. He thought: "What'll be coming out of there that's so interesting? Or will it be entering?"

ROSE IS A ROSE — Harry Wheatcroft, known as "Mr. Rose" to gardeners, sniffs his latest creation—the "Grace de Monaco" rose. The flower, named after you-know-who, will be exhibited in London at the Chelsea Flower show.
